President Arrives To Warm Greeting By Egypt's Sadat

CAIRO (AP) — President Nixon arrived in Cairo today under extremely tight security to a warm welcome for the first visit to Egypt by an American chief executive in more than 30 years.

Nixon, Mrs. Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger were received by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and his wife.

Meeting for the first time, the two presidents greeted each other warmly as Nixon stepped down from the plane and then reviewed an Egyptian honor guard.

A band played the U.S. national anthem before the party was taken into a

Although Nixon's arrival carries great symbolic importance, it was overshadowed by Kissinger's earlier threat to resign if the controversy isn't ended over his role in wiretapping practices.

Military and plainclothes forces were evident everywhere.

Sadat and Nixon scheduled their first private talks about 2½ hours after the American leader's arrival at the Egyptian residence, Tahrir Palace.

Their meetings throughout the 48-hour stay are expected to deal generally with the Middle East situation and particularly with the new and growing U.S. role in the area.

There was a possibility Sadat and Nixon would formalize an economic agreement reached earlier by Kissinger during his successful efforts to arrange an Egyptian-Israeli troop separation.

Kissinger's threat to resign because of the wiretapping occupied most of the attention of those accompanying Nixon from Salzburg, where the Nixon party made a 36-hour Alpine stopover.

Provincial Gov. Hans Lechner said goodbye to the President and Mrs. Nixon at the Salzburg airport on behalf of Chancellor Bruno Kreisky, who returned to Vienna Tuesday after meeting with Nixon.

Senate Republicans accepted Gilligan's estimate of $43.5 million from state lottery proceeds, but insisted, over Democratic denials that there will be a revenue surplus of about $120 million. At one point, they included $60 million in federal revenue-sharing trust funds now credited to the state and came up with $182 million they said would be available—$138 million without the lottery.

Senate Finance Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, and others retained in their bill $27.4 million the governor had proposed for vocational school construction and Vietnam bonus debt service costs.

Beyond that, however, their measure ignored the governor's proposals and set new priorities, the biggest of which was $37 million in proposed tax relief. Of the $37 million, $30 million would go for repeal of the intangibles tax on the earnings of stocks and bonds, and $7

Nixon Faces Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge says he will issue an order designed to force President Nixon to permit John D. Ehrlichman full access to White House files for his defense in the plumbers case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard has said he is willing to move under federal contempt statutes.

Gesell on Tuesday delayed Ehrlichman's trial in the case while going ahead with the prosecution of three others still accused in the 1971 break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The judge ordered a separate trial for Ehrlichman but said he will continue to press an intensifying struggle today over refusal by the President to allow the former White House aide and his lawyers access to the files.

Ehrlichman says his lawyers must be permitted to see 28 months worth of handwritten notes now locked in a White House vault.

Nixon has agreed to allow Ehrlichman's attorneys to wait in an adjacent room of the vault, a proposal Gesell has rejected.

The President also maintains that only he can decide what is evidence in the case, a position Gesell says he finds offensive.

Gesell said he plans to sign "specific orders to enforce the subpoenas in order that appropriate pretrial release of the pertinent documents among Mr. Ehrlichman's White House papers now in the custody of the President can be accomplished, thus permitting this trial to go forward as to him at a subsequent date."

One lawyer said Gesell might call a hearing at which White House lawyers would have to demonstrate why Nixon should not be held in contempt of Gesell's court.

Ehrlichman faces other federal charges along with six others in a courtroom just down the hall from Gesell's.

Andrew Hall, one of Ehrlichman's lawyers, indicated Tuesday the same strategy used in the plumber case would be tried before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, hearing the cover-up case.

Hall said at a pretrial hearing that unless Ehrlichman gets full access to a number of documents left behind in the White House, there is "a denial of due process."

Sirica indicated, however, he may not be as convinced as Judge Gesell that access to the White House files is so vital to a fair trial.

"What are you going to do about it (if Nixon refuses defense subpoenas)?" Sirica asked Hall.

Suggesting that Hall send a subpoena to the White House for the same notes Ehrlichman is seeking in the plumbers case, Sirica said:

"Maybe I have a different idea on this matter than my good friend Judge Gesell."

If Sirica, like Gesell, is persuaded to press the White House files issue, the impact would be even greater in the cover-up case.

Former chief of staff H.R. Haldeman,

Gordon C. Strachan and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell also face various charges of lying and obstruction of justice. They also may seek access to evidence still within Nixon's control. Charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the case also face Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian.

In other developments, all six cover-up defendants asked the Supreme Court to keep secret grand jury materials naming Nixon and others as unindicted coconspirators.

At the same time, presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the high court to rule that the grand jury had no authority to name Nixon as a coconspirator. Even if he loses that argument, St. Clair said he has proof that the grand jury lacked evidence to single out the President.

St. Clair also tried unsuccessfully to give the House Judiciary Committee the President's response to allegations he had a role in the Watergate cover-up. Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., refused to accept the brief because it was submitted ahead of the schedule Rodino has laid out.

Sirica, meanwhile, took note of the likelihood of a September impeachment trial in the Senate and said he may move the date of the cover-up trial from Sept. 9 to Sept. 3. Sirica said he hoped the early date would insure the seating of an unbiased jury.

The plumbers case will go to trial Monday with three defendants convicted in the earlier Watergate break-in trial: G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez.

All three men are charged with violating in 1971 the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers' study of the Vietnam war to the press, was under investigation by the plumbers, a special White House unit investigating press leaks.

Claim Kissinger Did Order Wiretaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman says he has seen proof that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, despite his sworn denial, ordered national security wiretaps.

Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said Tuesday, "Materials have been supplied to us which constitute positive proof that Kissinger did institute those taps."

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided earlier Tuesday to take another look at Kissinger's testimony concerning wiretaps last September during his confirmation hearings.

Kissinger, at a news conference at Salzburg, Austria, threatened to resign if controversy over his role in the wiretapping is not cleared up. He asked for the committee's review and denied that he lied to the panel.

At issue is the extent of Kissinger's involvement in the wiretapping of 13 government officials and four newsmen between May 1969 and February 1971.

Last September Kissinger testified that he never recommended the wiretapping, but supplied names of persons who had access to sensitive documents leaked to the news media.

However, recent press reports have described a larger Kissinger role in the wiretapping. The New York Times said today an FBI report says either Kissinger or his former deputy, General Alexander Haig, now a top White House aide, ordered some of the wiretaps.

Eilberg, in a telephone interview, told The Associated Press, "I can say categorically there is a direct conflict between what we have and what he said to the Foreign Relations Committee."

In a television interview Tuesday, Eilberg, asked whether he was saying that Kissinger did not tell the truth, replied, "I'm saying that."

However, he told The AP, "There's a clear conflict as it appears to me. I wouldn't say he lied."

He said the information he has seen shows Kissinger received more than 50 logs of wiretapped conversations. "It was quite clear that he instituted those wiretaps," Eilberg said.

Eilberg declined to say what materials before the committee constituted the proof. However, the committee has results of an FBI inquiry into the wiretaps.

Another committee member, Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., disagreed. "I cannot share my colleague's certainty as to the evidence," Wiggins said on the same television interview.

A third committee member, Rep. John F. Seiberling Jr., D-Ohio, said the only direct evidence is from a memo by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. "It doesn't prove Kissinger asked for them, but at least it's evidence."

Chairmen of three Senate subcommittees have requested the FBI documents on the wiretaps. Foreign Relations Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will be brought before the committee and asked in person to supply the records he has so far refused to furnish.

Most Foreign Relations members and several other congressional leaders expressed support for Kissinger.

"I would hate to see him resign over a matter like this," Fulbright said.

Frenchmen Long-Time Gold Holders

PARIS (AP) — Hoarding gold may be just around the corner for Americans, but Frenchmen have been stashing it away for centuries in stockings, mattresses, old chests or under the apple tree in the garden.

Private gold ownership has been illegal in the United States since 1934, but President Nixon has the authority to remove the ban. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told a congressional committee in Washington Tuesday it may be legal for Americans to own the metal before the end of the year.

The tradition in France dates back at least to the French Revolution, when the country was in turmoil and gold was the best hedge against financial disaster. Even today, very few families are without at least a little nest egg of gold.

Some Frenchmen even regard the precious metal as protection against natural calamities. "The river can flood and sweep away my house and machinery, but I'll still have my gold," said a farmer.

"This taste that Frenchmen have for gold is an expression of mistrust and bad memories," President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said several years ago when he was finance minister.

There is no official estimate of how much gold is in private hands in France. The newspaper Le Monde conducted a study in February and came up with the figure of 6,000 tons, which it said was 7.5 per cent of all the gold mined since the year 1413.

Last year gold transactions hit a record $674 million in France.

Psychologist Develops New Help For Stutterers

CHICAGO (AP) — A University of Chicago psychologist has developed a method of training stutterers to speak fluently almost immediately.

Dr. Israel Goldiamond's program does not attack the underlying cause of stuttering, which may not be known, but produces a new, fluent speech pattern.

All 54 patients who have completed the program since 1967 are able to speak fluently without stuttering. Others dropped out before completion when they developed fluency.

An estimated 1 to 3 per cent of American males have a stuttering problem, outnumbering female stutterers eight to one.

In developing the therapeutic program, Goldiamond experimented with dozens of stutterers for five years. Some required as many as 200 sessions. Now, in 30 or fewer 45-minute sessions, stuttering can be eliminated.

Weather

Sunny today becoming mostly cloudy in the afternoon. High, mid 70s. Clear and cool tonight with light or spotty fog in early morning, low, near 50. Sunny and mild Thursday, high, upper 70s. Probability of precipitation, 10 per cent today, tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 77; low, 52.

He said patient records show their stuttering disappears almost immediately once they begin the program. Continuation speeds up their speech and reinforces what they have learned, and followups show improvement is maintained over the years, Goldiamond said.

The program, which costs a patient $600, works this way:

The subject sits in a booth and reads as rapidly as possible words projected onto a screen. His voice is recorded and he hears himself simultaneously as he reads, with a delay of a fraction of a second.

To overcome this echo chamber effect, stutterers try exaggerating lip movements, lowering their voices, prolonging sounds or by just not listening.

Goldiamond emphasizes the slower, prolonged speech, since this is the least unnatural change from normal speech. He said he found that even after the delayed feedback of speech was eliminated patients continued to speak this way.

The stutterer then moves to other phases more nearly like everyday situations: Reading plays and conversation with a therapist.

The stutterer also is taught how to juncture his speech—to speak in phases common to the language, pausing at appropriate places.

Goldiamond says, "We have decided that we are not really getting rid of stuttering. We are teaching a new speech pattern."

State Appropriations Bill May Be Scrapped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Republicans in the Ohio Senate approved an $81.8-million supplemental appropriations bill early today over objections of Democrats who planned to block it in the House.

The vote was 17-15, strictly along party lines, on the bill that adds about $37 million to the $43.5-million spending proposal sent to the legislature by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, speaker pro tem of the House, said majority Democrats there will reject the proposal and insist that a conference committee be named.

The appropriations measure is the last major obstacle to summer adjournment for the lawmakers. Riffe and others said business will be completed today, even if it means the appropriations measure has to be scrapped.

Members of both parties said they consider that a possibility.

The heated, partisan battle over the appropriations bill involved not only conflicting priorities of the two parties, million to increase the personal state income tax exemption from $500 to $600 a year.

During long floor sessions Tuesday, there were these developments:

—The House resurrected after nearly a year a bill establishing a so-called "bill of rights" for mental patients and sent it to the Senate by a 87-2. It is similar to a measure, already approved by both chambers, spelling out rights for the mentally retarded.

—Representatives reconsidered an earlier vote and passed a measure permitting the Department of Natural Resources, with legislative approval, to create a statewide flood plain management plan. The 56-33 vote sent the measure to the Senate.

—Senators approved a House bill that permits furloughs of up to seven days for "trustworthy" inmates in Ohio correctional institutions for such things as family deaths and other hardships. It now goes to the governor.

—The Senate approved a House bill changing the formula for payments from three state retirement systems from a base of five years of highest salary to the three highest years.

Members of the legislature would benefit by the proposal as members of the Public Employees Retirement System. Other systems included in the bill are the State Teachers Retirement System and the School Employees Retirement System. Sponsors estimated the measure's cost at about $42 million next year.

After concurrence in amendments by one house or the other, nine other measures were made ready for consideration by the governor. They would:

—Permit payment of school employees' expenses for attending professional meetings.

—Require health insurance companies to offer coverage on infants from the time of birth.

—Revise agricultural seed laws.

—Outlaw so-called "pyramid" sales schemes.

—Establish a coal miners' "black lung" fund.

—Require out-of-state motor carriers

A record late-spring chill dropped temperatures into the 40s today from the central Plains to the Great Lakes region.

Part of the same cold air system triggered thundershowers in a band from Tennessee to southwest Texas. A few thundershowers also sprinkled Lower Michigan, southern Florida and southeastern Colorado.

A thunderstorm with accompanying high winds struck the Arkansas community of Butlerville shortly after midnight. A house trailer was overturned, causing minor injuries.

Most of the rest of the nation enjoyed fair skies, but there were exceptions. Showers extended from West Virginia through eastern Ohio, into western Pennsylvania and western New York.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to back off today while investors took a second look at prospects for an easing of tight-money pressures.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.55 at 846.53, and losers outstripped gainers by 7-to-2 in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the failure of a prime rate cut by the First National City Bank last Friday to spread to other big New York banks so far had chilled the enthusiasm that swept the market to a strong gain in the first six trading days of June.

Western Bancorp, the NYSE's most-active stock, lost 3/8 to 20 in a 99,900-share block trade.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down 1.30 at 84.95.

Gold slipped a little as bullion prices receded in Europe.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 48.26, down .30.

Social Service Director Speaks To Agencies

Social Service Agencies of Pickaway County held their final meeting of the season Tuesday at a luncheon in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church. Guest speaker was Mrs. Rosalyn Bandman, director of social services at Children's Hospital in Columbus. She said the services of the Social Service Department are available to all of the patients and their families. Just as illness strikes children from all types of families, so do the worries that illnesses sometimes cause. Patients and their families come directly to the department or are referred by physicians, nurses or other hospital personnel. All information regarding each family is kept confidential. The department is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and may be called at 253-8841, extension 314.

She continued by saying that a patient at the hospital may have a broken arm and that is what he is admitted for but treatment does not end there as many times other problems are discovered and it takes a team of many specialists to bring health to patients.

Reports of child abuse made to Children's Hospital so far this year are 124 compared to 200 for 1973. Since it is a criminal offense many cases are not reported. Friends and neighbors are afraid to interfere as they don't care to become involved in private affairs which may cause them problems. So far this year there are six known deaths from child abuse. Help for parents should begin with prenatal care which will help them to understand how to manage children. Most child abusers have themselves been abused and some admit their guilt and seek assistance. In such cases the only way to be effective is for all agencies to work together. Total planning is necessary to aid parents and children.

MRS. ROSALYN BANDMAN

The meeting was conducted by Harold Hewitt, executive director of Pickaway County YMCA. In his brief address he said that helping each other is what social service is all about. He introduced the guests and suggested people be advised that there are children needing to be sponsored for YMCA camp this summer.

Julia Conley, program developer of Pickaway County Community Action, announced the Laubach method of teaching reading and writing to anyone regardless of age who wishes to learn. There are six trained tutors who will teach on the one to one basis. Interested persons may call 474-7452 for complete information. Classes are now in session which prepare persons to pass Government Education Tests for high school diplomas.

Carol Higgins and Lucy Hosterman explained the Unusual Child Program which helps both the child and the parent cope with problems. The program covers many areas from just talking to providing material necessities. They may be contacted by

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to back off today while investors took a second look at prospects for an easing of tight-money pressures.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.55 at 846.53, and losers outstripped gainers by 7-to-2 in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the failure of a prime rate cut by the First National City Bank last Friday to spread to other big New York banks so far had chilled the enthusiasm that swept the market to a strong gain in the first six trading days of June.

Western Bancorp, the NYSE's most-active stock, lost 3/8 to 20 in a 99,900-share block trade.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down 1.30 at 84.95.

Gold slipped a little as bullion prices receded in Europe.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 48.26, down .30.

YMCA Sends 16 To Camp Willson

Camp Alfred Willson will host Pickaway County boys and girls during its 55th year of resident camping.

According to the local YMCA, 16 boys and girls from Pickaway County have already registered for the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA Camp. An estimated total of 38 Pickaway County youths will register before camping season ends. Last summer 34 local campers attended Willson.

Camp Willson is open to all boys and girls ages 8 through 15 and offers resident camping and a special Ranger camp for boys and girls ages 12 through 15. The Ranger program includes choices of bicycling, canoeing, horsemanship, and mini-biking.

Local campers attending the first period starting June 23 through June 28 are June Jonas, Jackie Jonas, Karen Brooke, Natalie Brooke, Kimberly Brooke, Kevin Cook, and Tyler McCain.

Attending the second period from June 30 to July 5 are Sally Rustin, Allison Cook, Beth Hawkins, Cheryl Hawkins, Jennifer Cole, and Sharon Heiskell.

Girls attending a period from July 7 through July 19 are Jennifer Schneider, Karen Southern, and Julie Schneider.

Craig Berlin will attend the boys period from July 28 to August 2.

Camp Willson is open to all Pickaway County boys and girls and registrations and payments are handled through the local YMCA.

Big Bear Stores Name Directors

At the annual meeting of stockholders of Big Bear Stores Co., June 11, Wayne E. Brown, Lawrence E. Mack, Stephen Kellough, and Michael J. Knilians were re-elected to the Board of Directors.

David W. Godfrey was named as a new director.

Following the annual meeting of stockholders, the Board of Directors elected Wayne E. Brown, president, chief executive officer, and treasurer; Michael J. Knilians, executive vice-president; Lawrence E. Mack, senior vice-president and secretary; Stephen Kellough and David W. Godfrey, vice-presidents; and R. D. Wickerham, assistant secretary.

Sales and other revenues for the first fiscal quarter ended June 1, 1974, were up 11.6 per cent. Profit figures are not yet available. A cash dividend of 28 cents per share was declared and announced on June 4 payable July 1.

Theme Set For July 4 Celebration

"Our American Heritage" is the theme for this year's annual Ashville Fourth of July Celebration. The 1974 celebration marks the 46th year for the festival.

Little Miss and Mister Fourth of July will be chosen July 2 following the 7 p.m. parade in their honor. The Woman of the Year Award will also be an event of the first day of the celebration.

The Miss Fourth of July parade and judging will begin at 7 p.m. on July 3. The Citizens Award will be given to an outstanding man in the community during the activities scheduled for July 3.

Continuous entertainment is planned for Independence Day beginning with the 10:30 a.m. flag raising and the Big Fourth of July Parade at 11. The band concert will be held at 12:30 with the Senior Citizen's Kitchen Band following at 1 p.m. Three-wheel bicycle races will begin at 1:30 and the presentation of festival queens starts at 2.

The Flowers Family stage show is scheduled for 3 with the next show being the Jack Sherrick Dancers at 5. The Flowers Family will reappear at 7 with local talent in the country and western field, Holiday Parker and Rita Lear, on tap at 8:30 Chuck Jackson Rock Band will conclude the live entertainment beginning at 9:30.

Giant fireworks will wrap up the celebration at 11 p.m. on the fourth. The festival will include rides, games, special events, displays and entertainment for the entire family from start to finish.

Police Probe Break-In

Circleville Police are investigating a breaking and entering claim and possible larceny at the Walnut St. Greenhouse.

Rosalee Crabtree, 511 Mower Rd., told police that she noticed evidence of a break-in when she reported for work Wednesday.

A key had been pushed down on the cash register, and a door on the west side of the building was unlocked. Police found that a screen had been ripped loose and the intruders slipped a cross-bolt and hook to gain entrance.

John Smith, 1204 Williams Dr., found two 36-by-14 inch windows broken in the home, apparently by rocks. Damage was estimated at $30.

A 24-inch boy's blue bicycle was stolen from the 219 Second Ave. home of Herman Diltz. It is valued at $50.

U.S. Bond Sale At 36 Percent

April 1974 sales of Series E & H United States Savings Bonds in Ohio were $36.9 million. At the end of April, the State attained 36.2 per cent of its 1974 sales goal.

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Volunteer Savings Bonds chairman, reported April sales of Savings Bonds in the County were $17,884. The County achieved 33 per cent of its annual sales goal April 30.

Social Service Director Speaks To Agencies

Social Service Agencies of Pickaway County held their final meeting of the season Tuesday at a luncheon in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church. Guest speaker was Mrs. Rosalyn Bandman, director of social services at Children's Hospital in Columbus. She said the services of the Social Service Department are available to all of the patients and their families. Just as illness strikes children from all types of families, so do the worries that illnesses sometimes cause. Patients and their families come directly to the department or are referred by physicians, nurses or other hospital personnel. All information regarding each family is kept confidential. The department is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and may be called at 253-8841, extension 314.

MRS. ROSALYN BANDMAN

The meeting was conducted by Harold Hewitt, executive director of Pickaway County YMCA. In his brief address he said that helping each other is what social service is all about. He introduced the guests and suggested people be advised that there are children needing to be sponsored for YMCA camp this summer.

Julia Conley, program developer of Pickaway County Community Action, announced the Laubach method of teaching reading and writing to anyone regardless of age who wishes to learn. There are six trained tutors who will teach on the one to one basis. Interested persons may call 474-7452 for complete information. Classes are now in session which prepare persons to pass Government Education Tests for high school diplomas.

Carol Higgins and Lucy Hosterman explained the Unusual Child Program which helps both the child and the parent cope with problems. The program covers many areas from just talking to providing material necessities. They may be contacted by calling 474-6418 or 474-5570.

Mrs. Bandman said she was greatly impressed with the development of social service in Pickaway County. She told of the large number of services provided by Children's Hospital in Columbus. She said the services of the Social Service Department are available to all of the patients and their families. Just as illness strikes children from all types of families, so do the worries that illnesses sometimes cause. Patients and their families come directly to the department or are referred by physicians, nurses or other hospital personnel. All information regarding each family is kept confidential. The department is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and may be called at 253-8841, extension 314.

She continued by saying that a patient at the hospital may have a broken arm and that is what he is admitted for but treatment does not end there as many times other problems are discovered and it takes a team of many specialists to bring health to patients.

Reports of child abuse made to Children's Hospital so far this year are 124 compared to 200 for 1973. Since it is a criminal offense many cases are not reported. Friends and neighbors are afraid to interfere as they don't care to become involved in private affairs which may cause them problems. So far this year there are six known deaths from child abuse. Help for parents should begin with prenatal care which will help them to understand how to manage children. Most child abusers have themselves been abused and some admit their guilt and seek assistance. In such cases the only way to be effective is for all agencies to work together. Total planning is necessary to aid parents and children.

A better understanding of the Russian commercial system, or nonsystem, could save American manufacturers the disappointment of not meeting high expectations in any trade dealings they may have.

Regardless of how extensive market research probes may be, how eager the Russians may appear to be to consummate the deal, what ultimately may determine the product's acceptability by the Russian consumer is its price.

Nothing strange about that. The same may be said of most products offered the American consumer. The only difference is, a state bureau rather than market forces determines the price of a product in Russia, and the pricing formula may contain as much politics as economics.

As an example, an American soft drink company recently concluded what was heralded as a major breakthrough into the Russian market. In exchange for selling its product in Russia — the first major invasion by an American soft drink — the company agreed to handle Russian wines and vodka in the United States.

A simple enough exchange, except that it has not worked out quite that way, according to a wire service dispatch from Moscow. Last year when the trade deal was signed, the price of the soft drink supposedly was established at 15 kopeks, but when the first sales were made a few days ago in a Black Sea resort, the price was 40 kopeks (about 50 cents).

That places the soft drink in a higher price category than Russia's largest selling beer. Initial sales, not surprisingly, were disappointing. And who is the wholesaler-distributor-retailer who sets the price in Russia? The government, of course.

Never Know A President

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — A reporter "covering" a President's trip abroad rarely gets close enough to him to ask him a question. I've traveled over a considerable portion of the globe with Richard Nixon (before and after he entered the White House) with Dwight Eisenhower (as President-elect and later), and with John Kennedy. Personal relationships? Few and far between.

By and large, the newsman who draws a coveted assignment of this nature receives his news through intermediaries: Jim Hagerty in the case of Eisenhower, Pierre Salinger of the Kennedy Administration, and Ron Ziegler, Gerry Warren, and Henry Kissinger in the travels and travails of Nixon.

break and actually sees his leader face to face, eyeball to eyeball, larynx to larynx.

The little group that went to Korea with President-elect Eisenhower never had an invitation to sit down with him while there or on the long voyage from Guam to Pearl Harbor aboard the cruiser Helena. It seemed preposterous, so one morning I walked to the guarded gate of his cottage at Kaneohe Marine Air Base, before he took off for golf under the Heavenly Hawaiian sun, and asked the guard to tell the general I was outside and wanted a cup of coffee. I had Don Whitehead of the Associated Press with me. The only other reporter, the late Merriman Smith, was off on a sightseeing trip with John Foster Dulles.

take that risk when we put on the uniform. Somehow your mother and I could live through a thing like that. But for God's sake don't get captured. Don't let them capture you. If you should be captured and they held you over my head, I would not be able to serve as President of the United States."

He was suggesting that his son kill himself if ever in that predicament. Another miraculous confrontation was after the final state dinner in Shanghai during President Nixon's trip. As he left the crowded hall arm-in-arm with Chou En-lai, the President spotted a familiar face — mine — steered Chou through the crowd and introduced us. "We've been talking about our experiences with Khrushchev," Nixon said. "You were there with me in Moscow. Tell him who won the Kitchen Debate."

For one soul-searing second I considered saying "Khrushchev." But I chickened and said, "You did, Mr. President." Nixon was delighted. He turned to the day-to-day ruler of 800,000,000 Chinese and, jabbing him in the chest for emphasis, cried, "I told you . . . I told you . . . I told you!"

It was a good night to die, but I couldn't quite make it.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the years from 1967 to 1973 there occurred what often is called an explosion of credit, amounting to $600 billion. And what are the projections for the next six years? Somewhere around $1.5 trillion. This is the amount that government, business and households are expected to need if other projections are to be fulfilled, mainly those that call for a continued expansion of the economy and an upgrading of the quality of life. Tremendous plans are on the agenda. Corporations hope to enlarge and make their plants more productive in order to reduce the shortages of goods. And they are being compelled by law to make their plants more ecologically acceptable and more wholesome for workers.

The federal government seems bent on providing more and more services and may be unable or unwilling to cut its increasing demands for financing. That means all other borrowers will have stiff competition for funds. Individuals and householders have learned to rely on credit to finance the life styles they have been led to believe are rightfully theirs, even if they haven't the cold cash in hand.

All these plans would seem reason for great excitement among financiers, but the truth is they are producing apprehension instead. Nobody really knows how all the money is going to be raised.

Speaking at a Conference Board meeting a few days ago, Dimitri N. Balatsos, economist and vice-president of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., listed some of the problem areas that worry some financial men.

—Corporate profits could continue under pressure for the entire period, lessening the appeal of stock investments. High interest rates and labor costs, and demands for greater social responsibility, might cut into earnings.

—The alternative to equity financing through the stock market is to borrow. But during this period some $25 billion of maturing bonds must be refinanced. That is, old bills must be paid before taking on new ones.

—Savings might fail to keep pace with economic activity. The demographic makeup of the population is changing, with the 25-45 year age group showing the biggest increase. These are spenders; they have a low propensity to save.

Based on current understanding of the situation, severe bottlenecks seem inevitable. Balatsos retains some optimism, although it seems to arise more from faith than from any evidence now available.

During the latter part of the Middle Ages, he notes, the mood was somber and people were preoccupied with death. They didn't know that the Renaissance was in the making.

Could it be that a financial renaissance is in the making? We better hope so.

Port Clinton Mayor Raps Flood Control

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Port Clinton's mayor has criticized the federal government for failing to provide the city with equipment to battle flooding.

Mayor John E. Fritz said Tuesday he may file suit against the federal government in an effort to get four surplus dump trucks to haul stone to repair Port Clinton's dikes.

LAFF - A - DAY

At college many of my friends have gotten into the bio-feedback game. Can any harm result from these brain wave tests and treatments?

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Dear Mr. D.: Bio-feedback has caught the imagination of a great many people. It is being used by scientists and others.

By means of an electronic device, electric vibrations in the brain are recorded and studied. Distinct patterns are interpreted for the diagnosis of conditions such as epilepsy and other brain disorders.

By bio-feedback techniques brain waves can be altered. The process has aroused interest for the possible treatment of high blood pressure, asthma and some heart irregularities.

Under medical supervision bio-feedback is a valuable tool.

However, the control of brain waves as a parlor game is not a harmless procedure. In fact, a large study recently performed at the United States Naval Academy indicates that the promiscuous use of bio-feedback without proper supervision can be potentially dangerous.

The value of bio-feedback is great and studies under the control of people trained in its use are important.

Mail-order bio-feedback machines make this instrument available to many who are not trained to use it properly.

I thought infectious mononucleosis only happened to adolescents. Here I am at 45 and have just been told I have it. Is "mono" more dangerous at my age?

Mr. E.E.B., Ga.

Dear Mr. B.: It is generally known that mononucleosis occurs more frequently in young adults rather than people in your age group. Nevertheless, it is not too uncommon for mature adults to be infected with this virus.

With routine care and rest there is no reason to suspect that the mature adult will develop any more complications than those occasionally seen in younger people.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . A truss is not a good substitute for a medical opinion about a hernia. All hernias should be examined at regular intervals.

New York City's Garbage May Be Buried Near Cadiz

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will be watching the operations closely if New York City contracts to dump its garbage in an abandoned Harrison County strip mine, an EPA official says.

New York City reportedly is close to approving a contract with Control Systems, Inc., of Cincinnati for annual disposal of 624,000 tons of compacted wastes in the 400-acre site near Cadiz. The garbage would be hauled by rail to the site at a rate of between 2,000 and 2,500 tons a day and used as reclamation landfill.

Charles Scott, Control Systems vice president, said he expects the firm to get the contract. He said it will be at least two years after the contract is signed before the operation begins "because of the lead time in getting the bailing equipment."

Donald Day, assistant chief of the EPA's Division of Waste Management, said the Harrison County site was approved as a landfill in 1969. He said an amended plan providing for disposal of compacted waste at the site was approved by the EPA "about a year and a half ago."

Day said the compaction system reduces 2,700 pounds of household wastes into an odorless block three feet by three feet by four feet, and hard enough to be transported and used as landfill.

"It's awfully hard for people to talk about things they don't know about, but when you look at the ravaged strip mine areas of Ohio that need reclamation, there should be no reason for concern," Scott said.

"It's land reclamation, that's what it is, and you'll be able to harvest this ground," he said.

The Environmental Action Coalition, Inc., of New York last week criticized the rail hauling of New York garbage to Ohio because it felt burying the wastes is a poor example of resource recovery.

Driving In A Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Fog can raise havoc with the average motorist's vision in more ways than one.

Pedestrians, trees and oncoming vehicles viewed through fog may look twice as far away as they really are, reports CIT Service Leasing Corp., which provides safe-driving information for users of its cars and truck fleets.

What's more, a motorist driving through fog may feel that he is going at only half his actual speed.

Karen Dumont, director of the coalition, said that while strip mines are a blight on the landscape, "using them as garbage disposal sites is not a feasible solution."

"Landfill areas are notorious for the pollution of nearby waterways and water tables, as well as the creation of methane gas which renders the land unuseable until the gas is thoroughly dispersed," she said.

Day said the Ohio EPA also would prefer a better resource recovery plan than simply burying garbage.

"If they get the contract, I'm sure we'll be breathing down their neck and watching the operation," he said.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

The 1974 Pickaway County Cancer Crusade is drawing to a close. Each year we set a goal for ourselves hoping to better our best. The goal for 1974 was $17,000. We have exceeded that goal and hopefully will reach $20,000. This makes all of us very proud who have worked in this year's campaign. With the economy, world tensions, governmental uncertainty, we questioned whether people would continue to contribute as much as they did in the past.

The figures verify the responsiveness of the people of Pickaway County. We should be proud of our local heritage and the concern shown towards the Nation's Number Two Killer.

There were over 1,000 volunteers working to cover the County this year. They worked hard at their job, many times having to go back when people were not at home. I want to thank them for their dedication and hard work. Without their drive and your contributions we would not have reached our goal.

Thanks again to all who were actively involved in this year's successful campaign. I appreciate it very much.

Sincerely,
STEVE STEVENSON
1974 Cancer Crusade
Chairman

WASHINGTON — A reporter "covering" a President's trip abroad rarely gets close enough to him to ask him a question. I've traveled over a considerable portion of the globe with Richard Nixon (before and after he entered the White House) with Dwight Eisenhower (as President-elect and later), and with John Kennedy. Personal relationships? Few and far between.

By and large, the newsman who draws a coveted assignment of this nature receives his news through intermediaries: Jim Hagerty in the case of Eisenhower, Pierre Salinger of the Kennedy Administration, and Ron Ziegler, Gerry Warren, and Henry Kissinger in the travels and travails of Nixon.

Thus we tend to be touted to report that the meeting between the President and the chief of state with whom he was closeted for one hour, 13 minutes and 26 seconds was "rewarding." Or "fruitful." No other real details surface until the issuance of the "communiqué" at the close of a visit, and even that can be a document of nifty evasions and mind-numbing non sequiturs. No chance to step up to the star of the show and say, "Hey, what did you two guys really talk about?" We still don't know what Nixon and Mao Tse-tung rapped about in the late winter of 1972. Perhaps they privately pledged to engage in thermonuclear warfare against the Soviet Union, if either was attacked. Perhaps all they did was exchange their favorite moo goo guai pan recipes.

To alleviate, slightly, the frustrations of the accompanying press as a whole, the White House staff appoints a daily "pool" of representatives of the various segments of the media. The "pool," a handful of note-takers and picture-snappers, is given special badges and allowed to go through the palace gate with the President and his party and, thus, even sometimes allowed to watch him lunch or dine with his hosts—from behind a potted plant, if one is available.

One or more members of the "pool" who write for newspapers or news-magazines are then required to write an instant report of what happened beyond the ken of their swarm of peers who were not permitted inside the gates. White House office staffers mimeograph and distribute the account. Pictures of the event are shared among the ostracized cameramen. It's the only way there can be even modest general coverage. In recent times, more than 100 media people tag along on such trips. If everybody pounced on little King Hussein at once, say, he'd come out a runt and denounce detente. But now and then a reporter gets a break and actually sees his leader face to face, eyeball to eyeball, larynx to larynx.

The little group that went to Korea with President-elect Eisenhower never had an invitation to sit down with him while there or on the long voyage from Guam to Pearl Harbor aboard the cruiser Helena. It seemed preposterous, so one morning I walked to the guarded gate of his cottage at Kaneohe Marine Air Base, before he took off for golf under the Heavenly Hawaiian sun, and asked the guard to tell the general I was outside and wanted a cup of coffee. I had Don Whitehead of the Associated Press with me. The only other reporter, the late Merriman Smith, was off on a sightseeing trip with John Foster Dulles.

After a time, Ike sent out word that Don and I could come in. The coffee came, was affably served, and before Jim Hagerty could be aroused and hurry to take over as buffer, I asked the upcoming President if he'd care to tell us what he had said to his son John in a tense little private talk they had had on a snow-covered Korean front.

"I'll tell you," Ike said. "I said, 'John, if you get killed in this war, it'll be a terrible thing for your mother and for me. But that's a soldier's life. We take that risk when we put on the uniform. Somehow your mother and I could live through a thing like that. But for God's sake don't get captured. Don't let them capture you. If you should be captured and they held you over my head, I would not be able to serve as President of the United States.'"

Five trucks from Pickaway County were among about 200 vehicles which swarmed around the Staley Soybean processing plant in Decatur, Ill., as part of the National Farmers Organization protest of low soybean prices.

New front steps, brick supports, and sidewalk repairs were completed at the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge on N. Court St. The improvement was one of several completed in the city by various firms and organizations giving the downtown vicinity an attractive new look.

The Rev. and Mrs. Albert E. Swingle were commissioned as missionaries to serve in Liberia, Africa. He served at Trinity Lutheran Church, Stoutsville, and St. Jacob Lutheran Church, Tarlton.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture placed a number of metal insect traps in Circleville to obtain information on the occurrence of the Japanese Beetle.

Glenn Announces Campaign Director

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic U.S. Senate nominee John Glenn's campaign organization reported Monday it spent $396,902 between Jan. 1 and May 31, the bulk of it on the former astronaut's primary election battle.

Citizens for John Glenn reported receipts for the same period of $357,493 in campaign expense statements filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Monday's filing was for the period of April 28 through May 31, during which the organization listed receipts of $108,291 and expenditures of $128,619.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

At college many of my friends have gotten into the bio-feedback game. Can any harm result from these brain wave tests and treatments?

Mr. J.D., Mich.

Dear Mr. D.: Bio-feedback has caught the imagination of a great many people. It is being used by scientists and others.

By means of an electronic device, electric vibrations in the brain are recorded and studied. Distinct patterns are interpreted for the diagnosis of conditions such as epilepsy and other brain disorders.

By bio-feedback techniques brain waves can be altered. The process has aroused interest for the possible treatment of high blood pressure, asthma and some heart irregularities.

Under medical supervision bio-feedback is a valuable tool.

However, the control of brain waves as a parlor game is not a harmless procedure. In fact, a large study recently performed at the United States Naval Academy indicates that the promiscuous use of bio-feedback without proper supervision can be potentially dangerous.

The value of bio-feedback is great and studies under the control of people trained in its use are important.

Mail-order bio-feedback machines make this instrument available to many who are not trained to use it properly.

I thought infectious mononucleosis only happened to adolescents. Here I am at 45 and have just been told I have it. Is "mono" more dangerous at my age?

Mr. E.E.B., Ga.

Dear Mr. B.: It is generally known that mononucleosis occurs more frequently in young adults rather than people in your age group. Nevertheless, it is not too uncommon for mature adults to be infected with this virus.

With routine care and rest there is no reason to suspect that the mature adult will develop any more complications than those occasionally seen in younger people.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . A truss is not a good substitute for a medical opinion about a hernia. All hernias should be examined at regular intervals.

New York City's Garbage May Be Buried Near Cadiz

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will be watching the operations closely if New York City contracts to dump its garbage in an abandoned Harrison County strip mine, an EPA official says.

New York City reportedly is close to approving a contract with Control Systems, Inc., of Cincinnati for annual disposal of 624,000 tons of compacted wastes in the 400-acre site near Cadiz.

The garbage would be hauled by rail to the site at a rate of between 2,000 and 2,500 tons a day and used as reclamation landfill.

Charles Scott, Control Systems vice president, said he expects the firm to get the contract. He said it will be at least two years after the contract is signed before the operation begins "because of the lead time in getting the bailing equipment."

Donald Day, assistant chief of the EPA's Division of Waste Management, said the Harrison County site was approved as a landfill in 1969. He said an amended plan providing for disposal of compacted waste at the site was approved by the EPA "about a year and a half ago."

Day said the compaction system reduces 2,700 pounds of household wastes into an odorless block three feet by three feet by four feet, and hard enough to be transported and used as landfill.

"It's awfully hard for people to talk about things they don't know about, but when you look at the ravaged strip mine areas of Ohio that need reclamation, there should be no reason for concern," Scott said.

"It's land reclamation, that's what it is, and you'll be able to harvest this ground," he said.

The Environmental Action Coalition, Inc., of New York last week criticized the rail hauling of New York garbage to Ohio because it felt burying the wastes is a poor example of resource recovery.

Driving In A Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Fog can raise havoc with the average motorist's vision in more ways than one.

Pedestrians, trees and oncoming vehicles viewed through fog may look twice as far away as they really are, reports CIT Service Leasing Corp., which provides safe-driving information for users of its cars and truck fleets.

What's more, a motorist driving through fog may feel that he is going at only half his actual speed.

Karen Dumont, director of the coalition, said that while strip mines are a blight on the landscape, "using them as garbage disposal sites is not a feasible solution.

"Landfill areas are notorious for the pollution of nearby waterways and water tables, as well as the creation of methane gas which renders the land unuseable until the gas is thoroughly dispersed," she said.

Day said the Ohio EPA also would prefer a better resource recovery plan than simply burying garbage.

"If they get the contract, I'm sure we'll be breathing down their neck and watching the operation," he said.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor: The 1974 Pickaway County Cancer Crusade is drawing to a close. Each year we set a goal for ourselves hoping to better our best. The goal for 1974 was $17,000. We have exceeded that goal and hopefully will reach $20,000. This makes all of us very proud who have worked in this year's campaign. With the economy, world tensions, governmental uncertainty, we questioned whether people would continue to contribute as much as they did in the past.

The figures verify the responsiveness of the people of Pickaway County. We should be proud of our local heritage and the concern shown towards the Nation's Number Two Killer.

There were over 1,000 volunteers working to cover the County this year. They worked hard at their job, many times having to go back when people were not at home. I want to thank them for their dedication and hard work. Without their drive and your contributions we would not have reached our goal.

Thanks again to all who were actively involved in this year's successful campaign. I appreciate it very much.

Sincerely,
STEVE STEVENSON

Chairman

Call Girls As Shrinks

By JIM BISHOP

Someone should find a big mountain and bury the word "psychology" under it. Today it is the most abused of all words, orated most by persons who can say it but not spell it. Even the dictionary fails to comprehend its meaning: "The science of the mind."

Psychology is more than that. Simply stated, psychology is "Why?" To say that it is the science of the mind is akin to stating that the heart is the science of biology. When the heart stops functioning, all organs stop. But without the other organs, the heart couldn't start.

My source of irritation on this bright and sunny day is a Call Girl—I capitalize it as a mark of respect—who appeared on the David Susskind Show to explain her profession.

There is nothing new in it or her. Susskind had two sex docs on the show,

Kingston Sets Recall Vote

KINGSTON, Ohio (AP) — Village residents of Kingston will vote July 2 on replacing Mayor Lynn Clausen and simultaneously will cast ballots for a successor if the recall goes through. Candidates to succeed Clausen have until 4 p.m. Wednesday to file for a spot on the election ballot, said Guy Brown, Ross County elections director.

Brown said a sufficient number of validly signed petitions had been turned in May 29 by the one-precinct village with 577 registered voters.

If Clausen is not ousted, Brown said, the law provides for the village to pay one-half the amount he is legally allowed to spend for an election campaign.

The recall petitions were filed by Richard Rickabaugh, a resigned village councilman, and his attorney. Petitioners maintain that Clausen acted illegally as mayor at a March 12 council meeting after resigning himself March 5, then withdrawing the resignation.

One candidate, Myrl Smith, has filed to be named on the July ballot.

Kitchen Sink Stolen

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Kathryn Saddler told police Monday that someone pried open the front door of a vacant home she owns and took a set of cabinets and the kitchen sink.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of May, 1974, there was presented to the Board of Commissioners of the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio, a petition signed by a majority of the adult freeholders residing in the following described territory situated in the County of Pickaway, and adjacent to the Village of Ashville, and to wit:

TRACT NO. 1:
Situated in the Township of Harrison, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio:
Beginning at a point in the S.W. corner of the 0.21 acre tract of land owned by the Village of Ashville on Station Street, thence N. 86 deg. 24' 40" W. 1297.00 ft. to an iron pin; thence N. 4 deg. 01' 40" W. 767.28 ft. to an iron pin; thence S. 85 deg. 29' 50" E. 1,174.28 ft. to an iron pin; thence S. 6 deg. 00' E. 460.00 ft. to an iron pin; thence S. 85 deg. 56' E. 200.00 ft. to an iron pin in the West R-W of N&W R.R.; thence with said R-W line, S. 5 deg. 44' 40" E. 252.26 ft. to an iron pin; thence N. 87 deg. 01' 30" W. 84.68 ft. to an iron pin; thence S. 2 deg. 36' 20" E. 99.65 ft. to the beginning. Containing 21.812 acres, more or less.

TRACT NO. 2:
A tract of land triangularly shaped containing approximately .75 of an acre lying adjacent to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company premises and immediately South of Tract No. 1. The above described premises being all the lands formerly owned by Jesse E. Miller and Elizabeth Miller between the Norfolk and Western Railroad and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway in Harrison Township, Pickaway County, Ohio.

Both of said premises being situated in Range 22, Township 2, Section 12, and being a part of the Southwest Quarter of said Section be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

Praying therein that said territory be annexed to the Village of Ashville in the manner prescribed by law and designating the undersigned as their agent in securing such annexation.

The said Board of Commissioners has fixed the 7th day of August, 1974, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. (E.D.S.T.) as the time for hearing such petition in the Common Pleas Courtroom in the Pickaway County Court House, Circleville, Ohio.

apparently to explain Julie to herself, in case she got off the rails, or the Simmons so to speak.

At no time did anybody get to the nub of the matter, which is that some men must pay for what they never learned how to give. Julie, by the way, charges $200, $300 and $500 a night, which is more than the psychologists earn for listening to the same complaints.

Well, good luck to Julie, say I. She's 28, and she may have a year left before the customers stop knocking on the door and start sending Mother's Day cards.

David Susskind, I gather by his embarrassed giggle, never patronized a Call Girl. That, or he is a sly fox indeed. His doctors yapped about human needs, sexual drives and the loneliness of the poor slob who puts a couple of hundred on the dresser before he removes his tie.

Julie has an obvious hostility to men. The doctors were trying to keep the talk on the pseudo-lofty plane of the psychology of sex, while the Call Girl kept returning to the plaintive question: Why feel sorry for the men? Why not feel sorry for me?

I tried, but I can't achieve it. In the morning, she is the one who hurries to the bank with the money—not the John. It is she who can attend any social gathering and pose as a lady, rather than a pariah. She has as many faces as a store full of clocks.

Psychology was kicked all over the program. Julie believes that men have a sexual drive and that women do not. Also, men are paying to degrade her. In my estimation, not so humble, she is wrong all the way.

*Men use her for merchandise they cannot get at home. They pay; she gives. Where the heck is the psychology in that? This is as shallow as the plaintive wail of feminists that they are sick and tired of being "sex objects."

I wish somebody would make me a sex object. It requires no science of the mind to stop being a sex object: just take off the panty hose, the lacy panties, the bra stuffed with brussels sprouts, the lipstick, mascara, eyebrow pencil, hair tint, wave set and clinging dress which drapes high on the thighs.

That's all. End of lesson. Wear long winter drawers, bandage the chest tightly, leave the hair straight and let it hang, put on a loose turtle neck and denim pants two sizes too large and you will have no problem. Ergo: instead of a sex object you have become a sick object.

I used to listen to all the night couch shows, snapping the dial from one to the other. I have kicked it, because everybody who gets on those shows is trying, psychologically, to find out who he is. No one seems to know who the heck he is.

They go to a shrink, not to straighten the kink in their think, but to become late-night psychiatrists at scale wage. I never listen to the couch shows now. Instead, I suffer through those old $7 films which break in the projector just as George Brent is about to fold Myrna Loy in his arms.

If the film holds together, George never says to Myrna, "You know, honey, the psychological reason why I always call you honey? Because when I kiss you, you sting. You have herpes, Kid."

The word was unknown to movie stars and Call Girls 20 years ago. We have reached a new and horrifying phase: The Call Girls are quack doctors of psychology, and they write books about men. The books sell to the movies and I pay $3 to listen to George Brent, Jr. say to Myrna Loy, Jr., "I am about to kiss you, kid. Psychologically, you are hostile to me. After the kiss, you will hate all men." ...

Nixon Makes Stop In Austria

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — President Nixon met more than 1½ hours today with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky to discuss the American chief executive's trips to the Middle East and Moscow.

Nixon leaves this medieval city Wednesday for Egypt on the first stop of a five-nation Middle East tour.

The talks also touched on European matters, presidential spokesman Ronald Ziegler said, particularly the European security conference that includes Russia and other eastern European nations.

Ziegler raised the possibility that Nixon will hold a summit meeting with Western European leaders before he gets to Moscow.

A final determination probably will depend on whether a new declaration of principles for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is initiated by NATO foreign ministers in Canada later this month.

Ziegler also defended Nixon against criticism by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who said that the President "is screwing it up," in reference to the Middle East achievements by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"That view is not shared by the majority of the Senate," Ziegler said, and not "by the majority of the American people, in my view."

Jackson told a labor convention Monday in Atlantic City, N.J., that he thought Kissinger had brought some stability to the Middle East and he fears the President's trip might bungle the cease-fire agreements.

Nixon appeared to be counting on medieval Salzburg to be something of a good luck talisman for his trip to the Middle East.

Funds Allocated For Vo-Ed Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education Monday approved allocation of $16.5 million in state and federal funds for 15 vocational education construction projects around Ohio. The allocations completed state action on providing matching funds for all locally voted vocational education projects approved in the state to date. In addition, the board approved $3.8 million in matching aid from previously appropriated funds for the proposed Columbus Metropolitan Career Center. The latest allocations are contingent upon the release of state funds from the state lottery and federal vocational funds, and will not become available before next February. Meanwhile, a move Monday to put in a bid with the General Assembly, before it adjourns for the summer, for state lottery proceeds for schools was tabled by the board. The board acted on a motion by board President John Meckstroth of Cincinnati, who said members could not adequately request a particular amount of money without first studying the funds available. Board member Anthony Russo of Cleveland had proposed the board ask the legislature to give schools $52 million from lottery proceeds. Meckstroth said he objected only to the timing of the proposal, which he said Russo presented to members just prior to Monday's meeting. The tabling had the effect of killing the proposal for now, since the legislature is expected to adjourn before the board's next monthly meeting. The $52 million figure came from a proposal in the Ohio House by Rep. Frederick Young, R—38 Dayton, who suggested it be passed on to school districts through an across-the-board $22 hike in the per-pupil state subsidy for next year. The proposal failed to gain approval as opponents pointed out that the constitutional amendment approved by voters last year provided that lottery revenues go into the general fund without being earmarked for a specific use. In other action, the board: —Scheduled a hearing Sept. 9 on the board's new standards for school bus purchases. —Approved these contracts for preparing vocational education teachers: Bowling Green State University, $113,437; Cleveland State, $46,417; Kent State, $391,229; Miami, $25,354; Ohio State, $1,110,070; Ohio, $96,129; Akron, $12,578; Cincinnati, $181,228; Toledo, $88,613. —Dissolved the present Darke County Joint Vocational District and assigned the member school districts to other vocational districts.

Cincy School Aide Quits

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Citing frustration over the issue of integration, a top school aide resigned Monday just hours before the Cincinnati Board of Education ordered administrative staff reductions by 1975. The board informed Supt. Donald Waldrup he is to "substantially reduce" the ranks of administrative personnel. Stanley A. Marsh, an assistant of Waldrup's, announced he was giving up his $25,000-a-year job because of mounting political pressures. "The real issue was the big frustration of not being able to do what I was trying to do," he said. Marsh said failure to integrate the school district led to his action. "I don't think that integration, or desegregation, should be left up to the courts," he said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The president of the American Osteopathic Association says the majority of general practitioners in this country 20 years from now will be doctors of osteopathy (DOs) rather than MDs if planned DO medical schools open. Dr. John C. Taylor of Kansas City, Mo., told delegates to the association's annual meeting here Monday that such schools will start in the next few years in Florida, Ohio, New York and New England. There are now seven DO schools in the nation and new ones will open this fall in West Virginia and Oklahoma, he said. While DOs represent only 5 per cent of the physician population today, Taylor said, they are general practitioners to an estimated 25 million Americans. "The reason DOs provide this disproportionate amount of general practice care is that 75 per cent of our profession is in general practice," he said. "For the first time in our 100-year history, we can state unequivocally that our profession is on full parity with allopathic (MD) medicine in every one of the 50 states," Taylor declared. Utility Companies Hit Expansion Rules COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine utility companies lodged protests with the Ohio Power Siting Commission Tuesday over controversial new rules for expansion plans. Attorneys for the firms objected at a hearing to a provision requiring a company to write a letter of intent to expand two years before planned construction and to a regulation that utilities provide 10-year forecasts of power and construction demands.

Red Cross Program To Assist Patients In Nursing Homes

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter has assumed the responsibility for organizing Red Cross volunteer services in the nursing homes of Circleville. She is recruiting both adult and youth volunteers who may be able to give a few hours time occasionally in helping to brighten the lives of the patients.

Mrs. Carpenter is most enthusiastic about the opportunity to serve and states "It is a real privilege to give friendly and personal services to those in the nursing homes."

Volunteers can make life pleasanter for the patients by providing extra kindnesses such as arranging their hair, reading mail or the newspaper, feeding them or just visiting with them. They soon look forward to the time when the volunteer will be there.

Red Cross Volunteers are asked to take the two hour orientation to familiarize themselves with the Red Cross and the philosophy of volunteer service. Mrs. Carpenter will give them a tour and instructions regarding the services they may perform in each facility. It is hoped that all three Circleville Homes may be served.

Former volunteers, either adult or youth, who have previously received Red Cross orientation will not be asked to repeat it. Those who are interested may call Mrs. Carpenter, 474-4088 or the Red Cross, 474-5736.

Red Cross Youth Schedule Events

Bonnie Hall, president of Red Cross Youth, presided at a recent meeting of the organization at the chapter house, 167 Watt St.

Announcement was made of a Leadership Training Conference for Red Cross Youth Volunteers to be held Aug. 12-22 at Otterbein College in Westerville. Reservations are to be made at the Red Cross office by June 17th.

Girls are needed to work at Pickaway Manor and at Berger Hospital's reception desk. Schedules for work may be made by contacting Mrs. Jack Leaker at 474-2620.

Good Neighbor Red Cross Nursing 4-H Club will sponsor two tours for 4-H members. The first will be June 13th to Orient State Hospital. Members are to meet 8 a.m. at the chapter house.

On June 17th the tour will be to Children's Hospital in Columbus, leaving from the chapter house at noon.

In place of the next regular meeting a picnic will be held at Hargus Lake on Aug. 2nd.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Mary Beth Hughes

A bridal shower was held Sunday evening honoring Miss Mary Beth Hughes, bride-elect of Robert L. Thomas, at 138 Dunmore Road. Hostesses were Mrs. Ron (Barbara Carter) Willmann, Mrs. James (Sandra Greenlee) Ewing and Miss Beverly A. May.

The gift table was decorated in pink and white and refreshments of cake, ice cream, and punch were served.

Attending were: Miss Diana Berry, Mrs. Lee Berry, Mrs. Herman Fausnaugh Jr., Mrs. John N. Kerns, Mrs. Leroy Thomas, Mrs. William Hughes, Miss Darla Hughes.

Mrs. Walter C. May, Mrs. Wilbur Greenlee, Mrs. Lawrence Carter, Miss Linda Carter, Mrs. Ron Willmann, Mrs. James Ewing and Miss Beverly A. May.

Sending gifts as they were unable to attend were Miss Vicki Southward, Miss Donna Berry, Mrs. Lois Brobst, Mrs. Herbert Stinson, and Mrs. Walter Heine.

Rangetop Supper

Frankfurters, potatoes, snap beans, relishes, pineapple whip, beverage.

Pineapple Whip

Light and airy!
8 3/4-ounce can crushed pineapple in heavy syrup

3 ounce package lemon-flavor gelatin

1 cup orange juice

Drain pineapple well and set aside; add enough water to the pineapple syrup to make 1 cup; heat until boiling; add to gelatin and stir until dissolved; stir in orange juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Place over ice cubes and water. Beat until as thick as whipped cream. Fold in reserved pineapple. Turn into dessert dishes or sherbert glass; chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GOOD DINNER

Minute steaks, potatoes, lemon salad bowl and chocolate sundaes.

Lemon Salad Bowl

Different from the usual combination.

2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

1-3rd cup lemon juice

1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1 teaspoon sugar

1 teaspoon curry powder

Clove garlic, minced

2-3rds cup peanut oil

Sliced tomatoes, onion rings, sliced cucumbers and green pepper rings

Turn all the ingredients except the vegetables into a jar; cover tightly; shake vigorously; chill thoroughly; makes 1 cup. Just before serving salad, spoon the dressing over alternating layers of the vegetables. The amount of dressing needed will depend on the amount of the vegetables used.

Personals

Instructor Society Hosts Area Chapters At Breakfast

Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society hosted three other chapters for a breakfast at Pickaway Arms on June 8th.

Guests from Alpha Gamma Chapter were, Eleanor Tootle, Grace Dresbach and Martha Matthews; from Beta Tau Chapter were, Annabelle Stoll and Marilyn McCauley; from Alpha Delta Chapter, Nancy Harper, Regina Ponte, Faye Mayo and Charlene Mace.

Mrs. Fred Engle, president, conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Robert Scranton, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Helen Stephenson, who is the present state president of Delta Kappa Gamma. She spoke on the various accomplishments of the organization and challenged the group with upcoming events and responsibilities. She inspired members by reading from a book by Marjorie Holmes. Selections used were "I Don't Feel Loved Anymore" and "I've Said Yes, Once Too Often". She concluded her talk with the phrases "Flapdoodle, Trust And Obey" and "The Lord Will Provide."

Following her talk, Mrs. Stephenson installed new officers: Mrs. Robert Scranton, president; Miss Betty Melton, first vice president; Mrs. Donald Price, second vice president; Mrs. Ben Nothstine, recording secretary; Mrs. Lois Brobst, corresponding secretary; Miss Pat Strous, treasurer and Mrs. J. B. Scott, parliamentarian.

As Mrs. Engle relinquished the gavel to Mrs. Scranton, she said "Don't just wear the key: Be the key."

Mrs. Bernard Savey Hosts Club Meeting

Mrs. Bernard Savey, assisted by Mrs. Everett Peters, entertained Solaqua Garden Club in her home at 930 Circle Drive, Circleville on Friday.

For the program Mrs. Savey displayed floral arrangements on long tables in the family room. With natural driftwood she used peonies, clematis and flowering branches, on birch limbs she used daisies and on white driftwood, red roses.

Mrs. Clyde Herron called the business meeting to order with "The Lord's Prayer." Roll call was answered by 15 members naming a flower one could use with driftwood for an artistic arrangement. Guests present were Mrs. John Hedges, Route 2, Ashville and Mrs. Charles DeVoss, Millarport.

It was reported that Miss Mary Shortridge, a club member, is improving at her home after surgery in Riverside Hospital, Columbus. Mrs. Lucy Fausnaugh was honored for having a birthday in June.

Reports were read concerning the convention to be held in Cincinnati. Mrs. Charles Huston was elected as a delegate. Schedules for the Pickaway County Fair were issued.

The slate of officers for the coming year was presented by the nominating committee and accepted. Officers are: Mrs. Glenn Rinehart, president; Mary Shortridge, vice president; Mrs. John Eitel, secretary; Mrs. Paul Stout, treasurer.

Mrs. Herron's thought for the day was "Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday." Refreshments were served and members and guests toured Mrs. Savey's extensive gardens.

The July meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Charles Huston, Route 2, Ashville.

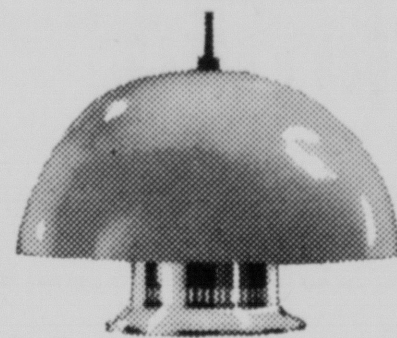

Mrs. Scranton presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Engle and a gift to Mrs. Stephenson. Her first official business was to announce committees for the next two years.

The breakfast tables were decorated with roses and ivy. The program booklets and favors were made by Mrs. Claude Sayre, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Earl Smith and Miss Helen Mettler.

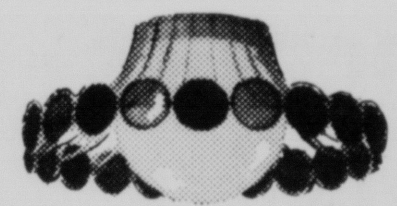

Other members attending were: Mrs. Arthur Beatty, Mrs. Robert Bush, Mrs. Judd Dresbach, Mrs. Ellis Evans, Mrs. Wayne Evans, Mrs. Ethel Grooms, Mrs. James Hartley, Mrs. Van Meter Hulse, Mrs. Marjorie Koch, Mrs. George McGhee, Mrs. Bobby Ogle, Mrs. Richard Partee, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. E. E. Porter, Mrs. Charles Schieber, Mrs. James G. Scott, Mrs. Robert Tacy, Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. Lloyd Gallagher and Mrs. D. R. Wylie.

Red Cross Program To Assist Patients In Nursing Homes

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter has assumed the responsibility for organizing Red Cross volunteer services in the nursing homes of Circleville. She is recruiting both adult and youth volunteers who may be able to give a few hours time occasionally in helping to brighten the lives of the patients.

Mrs. Carpenter is most enthusiastic about the opportunity to serve and states "It is a real privilege to give friendly and personal services to those in the nursing homes."

Volunteers can make life pleasanter for the patients by providing extra kindnesses such as arranging their hair, reading mail or the newspaper, feeding them or just visiting with them. They soon look forward to the time when the volunteer will be there.

Red Cross Volunteers are asked to take the two hour orientation to familiarize themselves with the Red Cross and the philosophy of volunteer service. Mrs. Carpenter will give them a tour and instructions regarding the services they may perform in each facility. It is hoped that all three Circleville Homes may be served.

Former volunteers, either adult or youth, who have previously received Red Cross orientation will not be asked to repeat it. Those who are interested may call Mrs. Carpenter, 474-4088 or the Red Cross, 474-5736.

Red Cross Youth Schedule Events

Bonnie Hall, president of Red Cross Youth, presided at a recent meeting of the organization at the chapter house, 167 Watt St.

Announcement was made of a Leadership Training Conference for Red Cross Youth Volunteers to be held Aug. 12-22 at Otterbein College in Westerville. Reservations are to be made at the Red Cross office by June 17th.

Girls are needed to work at Pickaway Manor and at Berger Hospital's reception desk. Schedules for work may be made by contacting Mrs. Jack Leaker at 474-2620.

Good Neighbor Red Cross Nursing 4-H Club will sponsor two tours for 4-H members. The first will be June 13th to Orient State Hospital. Members are to meet 8 a.m. at the chapter house.

On June 17th the tour will be to Children's Hospital in Columbus, leaving from the chapter house at noon.

In place of the next regular meeting a picnic will be held at Hargus Lake on Aug. 2nd.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Mary Beth Hughes

A bridal shower was held Sunday evening honoring Miss Mary Beth Hughes, bride-elect of Robert L. Thomas, at 138 Dunmore Road. Hostesses were Mrs. Ron (Barbara Carter) Willmann, Mrs. James (Sandra Greenlee) Ewing and Miss Beverly A. May.

The gift table was decorated in pink and white and refreshments of cake, ice cream, and punch were served.

Attending were: Miss Diana Berry, Mrs. Lee Berry, Mrs. Herman Fausnaugh Jr., Mrs. John N. Kerns, Mrs. Leroy Thomas, Mrs. William Hughes, Miss Daria Hughes.

Mrs. Walter C. May, Mrs. Wilbur Greenlee, Mrs. Lawrence Carter, Miss Linda Carter, Mrs. Ron Willmann, Mrs. James Ewing and Miss Beverly A. May.

Sending gifts as they were unable to attend were Miss Vicki Southward, Miss Donna Berry, Mrs. Lois Brobst, Mrs. Herbert Stinson, and Mrs. Walter Heine.

Rangetop Supper
Frankfurters, potatoes, snap beans, relishes, pineapple whip, beverage.
Pineapple Whip

Light and airy!
8 1/4-ounce can crushed pineapple in heavy syrup
3 ounce package lemon-flavor gelatin
1 cup orange juice

Drain pineapple well and set aside; add enough water to the pineapple syrup to make 1 cup; heat until boiling; add to gelatin and stir until dissolved; stir in orange juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Place over ice cubes and water. Beat until as thick as whipped cream. Fold in reserved pineapple. Turn into dessert dishes or sherbert glass; chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GOOD DINNER

Minute steaks, potatoes, lemon salad bowl and chocolate sundaes.

Lemon Salad Bowl
Different from the usual combination.

2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1-3rd cup lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon curry powder
Clove garlic, minced
2-3rds cup peanut oil
Sliced tomatoes, onion rings, sliced cucumbers and green pepper rings

Turn all the ingredients except the vegetables into a jar; cover tightly; shake vigorously; chill thoroughly; makes 1 cup. Just before serving salad, spoon the dressing over alternating layers of the vegetables. The amount of dressing needed will depend on the amount of the vegetables used.

Personals

Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Route 5, entertained in her home Monday, her aunt, Mrs. Nora Kuhn, of Tarlton who was celebrating her 88th birthday, and Mrs. Ruby Kuhn of Amanda.

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday June 12, 1974 13

BIG STRINGER—Terry (left) and Timmy Francis, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Francis, 153 Haywood Ave., were very secretive concerning the location of the farm pond where they landed this stringer of fish Tuesday morning. On the stringer is a 2½ pound bass and 24½ of bluegills.

Bruins Dominate Hockey Awards

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boston Bruins dominated the awards portion of the National Hockey League meetings on the eve of today's draft to stock the league's new Kansas City and Washington clubs.

High-scoring Boston center Phil Esposito took two individual awards, claiming the Art Ross Trophy as the leading scorer with 145 points, and the

Hart Memorial Trophy as the league's most valuable player.

The 1973-74 scoring championship was his fourth in a row and fifth in six years. He also won the Hart Trophy in 1968-69.

Esposito also accepted the Norris Trophy—awarded the league's top defenseman—for teammate Bobby Orr.

The Norris—Orr's seventh in a row—was the 14th award in his eight-season career. Boston's phenomenal defenseman also has won the Calder Award as top rookie, is the only defenseman to win the Art Ross Trophy, is the only player to win the Hart Trophy three consecutive times and is the only player to twice win the Conn Smythe Trophy as outstanding playoff competitor.

Philadelphia Flyers goaltender Bernie Parent and Chicago Black Hawks netminder Tony Esposito shared the Vezina Trophy as the best at their position last season.

Defensesman Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders won the Calder Memorial Trophy for rookie of the year.

Other winners were Fred Shero of the Flyers, voted Coach of the Year; Boston's Johnny Bucyk, given the Lady Byng Trophy as the player who best combined sportsmanlike conduct and outstanding playing ability, and Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens, who took the Bill Masterton Memorial Trophy as the player "who best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey."

Meanwhile, the Kansas City Scouts and Washington Capitals were busy deciding on their selections for today's expansion draft, which was to provide each team with 22 players.

Among those players left unprotected by the existing clubs, were Frank Mahovlich and Claude Larose of Montreal; Bobby Rousseau, Bruce MacGregor and Ron Harris of the New York Rangers, and Joe Watson, Simon Nolet and Terry Crisp—all major contributors to the Flyers' Stanley Cup triumph. Each existing club was allowed to protect 15 skaters and two goaltenders.

Miss Robtown Wins At Meadows

Miss Robtown, owned by Burt Cook of Circleville, was a winner on Thursday night at the Meadows Raceway, Meadowlands, Pa.

The B.F. Coalton filly trotted the mile in 2:07. It was her third win in four starts with her best time 2:06.2.

Miss Robtown is trained and driven by Jack Betts.

Sports Briefs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are touring with a two-act play these days and the Chicago White Sox didn't care too much for Act I Tuesday night.

Jim Perry, pitching masterfully and cleverly, shut them out 6-0 on eight hits. Tonight, the Sox have to face the second half of the act in Gaylord Perry, Jim's younger brother who will be shooting for his 11th straight victory.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Earl Anthony's $53,355 season winnings total has moved him past Larry Laub of San Francisco into the lead of the official money standings of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Expos Slaughter Reds

MONTREAL (AP)—Willy Davis hit his second and third home runs of the season, one of three runs and the other a grand slam, Tuesday night as the Montreal Expos overwhelmed the Cincinnati Reds 16-6.

The Expos had four home runs in the contest after recording only 17 the entire season. Mike Jorgenson and Ron Fairly had the other two.

"There was only one Jackie Robinson and he was fantastic," mused Davis, who came from Los Angeles in trade. "But I'm fantastic too."

"I imagine Cincinnati does that more to others than they get it done to them," said Expos Manager Gene Mauch, whose team took two straight from the Reds. "Now they know how it feels."

"I don't know how that man does it," said Mauch of Davis. "He hits them farthest when the pitch looks like it's going to hit him."

"The pitch," said Reds catcher

Johnny Bench, "looked like it might hit him. That guy must use a match stick for a bat. He gets it around so quickly."

"Willy Davis can't hardly play in this park without hitting home runs," said Mauch. "They have to come. They may not be towering smashes, but they are Jerry Park home runs and that's where he plays."

Mauch noted the steady wind that poured toward right field during the game. All Montreal home runs went to right field.

"The balls do carry out of here," said Montreal shortstop Tim Foli, adding he thought opposing pitchers should concentrate on their best pitches in Jerry Park, "not make adjustments."

"Roger Nelson couldn't get over his breaking stuff," said Foli, whose two-run single in the seventh tied the score at 5-5 and set up Davis' game-winning blow. "Either he was going to get it over and win or we were going to get a lot of runs."

Nelson, however, retired in the seventh after giving up only four hits. Loser Tom Hall only pitched to two batters before he went out and the Expos nailed Cincinnati relief hurlers for 12 runs.

Jorgenson homered in the first inning and Cincinnati came back to take the lead at 2-1 on Bench's two-run double in the third. The Reds scored once again in each of the next two innings on Expos errors and Dan Driessen's run-scoring hit in the seventh made it 5-1.

Fairly singled in the seventh and was forced. Jim Cox walked, Barry Foote singled home Bob Bailey. Then Hall walked Ron Woods and gave up a single to Jorgenson, scoring two.

Pedro Borbon then forced Foli, who batted in two on a double and Davis hit his first homer.

Montreal exploded for eight more runs in the eighth, including four on Davis' second blast giving him seven runs batted in for the night.

Can-Am Gets 2 SD Runs

Fourteen 3- and 4-year pacers will go postward in two divisions of the sixth leg of the Can-Am Series Thursday night at Scioto Downs for a purse of $20,000.

The huge entry forced the race into two divisions, each going for $10,000 and a beautiful silver trophy.

The second division is the tougher of the two, with Braidwood, the slick 4-year-old Majestic Hanover stallion, owned by driver Walt Paisley and Paul Roberto of Morton Grove, Ill. Lightly raced in 1973 with five wins and two seconds in seven starts, Braidwood paced in 1:59 3-5 at Washington Park. This year he has won 9 of 16 starts, and blazed around Maywood Park's half-mile oval in 1:58 2-5.

Rated a close second choice in the second division is Sudden Sam, owned by J. W. Sweeney of Belmont, Mass., and driven by Bill Faucher. This 4-year-old son of Race Time is the current point leader in the series, having raced in all five previous legs, earning 162 points. He won last Friday night over Saratoga Raceway's half mile in 1:59 4-5 for a new race record.

Joe O'Brien has a tough competitor in the second division in Meadow Micky, one of the sport's leading Little Brown Jug eligibles. Owned by John and H.P. Skoglund of Minneapolis, Minn., this sophomore son of Tar Heel won six starts last year, including a 1:58 4-5 trip at Hollywood Park. He has won two races this year, and last week was second by a neck to Toro Hanover in the Battle of Brandywine in 1:59 2-5.

Marc Ferguson will drive Little Startrick for owner Lowell Prickett of Waynesville, Ohio. This son of Overtrick has won in 1:59 4-5 at Vernon Downs.

Gene Riegle has a promising Jug eligible and Can-Am starter in Right On Bret, the Bret Hanover showing a victory in 2:03 1-5 this year at Scioto.

Bob Cheney will pilot the brilliant Gallion Pam for owner Carl Weithman of Galion. This daughter of Adios Senator, won 12 of 24 starts last year including a trip in 1:58 at Latonia. This year, she won a leg of the Can-Am at Blue Bonnets in Canada in 2:01 2-5. Bob Davenport has Mickey Bloom to complete the second division.

Royals Blank Milwaukee

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Al Fitzmorris has a selection of three pitches in his repertoire—fast, faster and fastest.

Using only fastballs may be a revolutionary baseball theory, but it's certainly working for the Kansas City Royals' pitcher.

Except for one experimental slider Tuesday night, Fitzmorris threw only hard stuff at the Milwaukee Brewers and notched his second straight shutout with a 1-0 decision.

"(Kansas City Manager) Jack McKeon told me seven years ago at Omaha that you have to learn to get the guys out," noted Fitzmorris after his eight-hitter. "It took me almost seven years to find out that's true."

Fitzmorris, who shut out Baltimore on a three-hitter his last time out, went 17 innings without throwing a breaking ball. Then he tossed a slider at George Scott leading off the ninth Tuesday night.

The change of style has helped Fitzmorris' control. He hasn't walked a batter for 23 innings, or since May 22. The Royals had lost three in a row before Tuesday night's victory.

In the other American League games, the Detroit Tigers beat the Texas Rangers 8-6; the Cleveland Indians blanked the Chicago White Sox 6-0; the Baltimore Orioles beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2; the California Angels nipped the New York Yankees 5-4 and the Boston Red Sox trimmed the Oakland A's 10-9.

Tigers 8, Rangers 6
Mickey Stanley slugged a three-run homer and Gary Sutherland and Willie Horton each drove in two runs to pace Detroit over Texas.

Indians 6, White Sox 0
Jim Perry hurled a seven-hitter and Cleveland took advantage of a rash of errors by Chicago to beat the White Sox easily.

Perry boosted his record to 5-5.

Orioles 4, Twins 2
Jim Palmer, aided by Brooks Robinson's second-inning home run and relief help from Grant Jackson and Bob Reynolds, snapped a personal seven-game losing streak in Baltimore's victory over Minnesota.

Angels 5, Yanks 4
Mickey Rivers picked up two bases on a passed ball and scored on Denny Doyle's seventh-inning single to snap a tie and give California its victory over New York.

Red Sox 10, A's 9
Rick Miller, Cecil Cooper and Carlton Fisk belted homers and Danny Cater broke a tie with a seventh-inning pinch double, propelling Boston over Oakland.

Teams 1, 5 Win PCC Ladies Golf

Team number 1 and team number 5 captured top honors with 11½ points each to win the Pickaway Country Club Ladies Golf League match.

Members of team 1 are Mary Carpenter, Dottie Smith, Jackie Holveck, and Madeline Sanders.

Team 5 members are Jan McKelvey, Mae Huggins, Jackie Moore, and Betty Danford.

Bruins Dominate Hockey Awards

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boston Bruins dominated the awards portion of the National Hockey League meetings on the eve of today's draft to stock the league's new Kansas City and Washington clubs.

High-scoring Boston center Phil Esposito took two individual awards, claiming the Art Ross Trophy as the leading scorer with 145 points, and the

Hart Memorial Trophy as the league's most valuable player.

The 1973-74 scoring championship was his fourth in a row and fifth in six years. He also won the Hart Trophy in 1968-69.

Esposito also accepted the Norris Trophy—awarded the league's top defenseman—for teammate Bobby Orr.

The Norris—Orr's seventh in a row—was the 14th award in his eight-season career. Boston's phenomenal defenseman also has won the Calder Award as top rookie, is the only defenseman to win the Art Ross Trophy, is the only player to win the Hart Trophy three consecutive times and is the only player to twice win the Conn Smythe Trophy as outstanding playoff competitor.

Philadelphia Flyers goaltender Bernie Parent and Chicago Black Hawks netminder Tony Esposito shared the Vezina Trophy as the best at their position last season.

Defenseman Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders won the Calder Memorial Trophy for rookie of the year.

Other winners were Fred Shero of the Flyers, voted Coach of the Year; Boston's Johnny Bucyk, given the Lady Byng Trophy as the player who best combined sportsmanlike conduct and outstanding playing ability; and Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens, who took the Bill Masterton Memorial Trophy as the player "who best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey."

Meanwhile, the Kansas City Scouts and Washington Capitals were busy deciding on their selections for today's expansion draft, which was to provide each team with 22 players.

Among those players left unprotected by the existing clubs, were Frank Mahovlich and Claude Larose of Montreal; Bobby Rousseau, Bruce MacGregor and Ron Harris of the New York Rangers; and Joe Watson, Simon Nolet and Terry Crisp—all major contributors to the Flyers' Stanley Cup triumph. Each existing club was allowed to protect 15 skaters and two goaltenders.

Miss Robtown Wins At Meadows

Miss Robtown, owned by Burt Cook of Circleville, was a winner on Thursday night at the Meadows Raceway, Meadowlands, Pa.

The B.F. Coalton filly trotted the mile in 2:07. It was her third win in four starts with her best time 2:06.2.

Miss Robtown is trained and driven by Jack Betts.

Sports Briefs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are touring with a two-act play these days and the Chicago White Sox didn't care too much for Act I Tuesday night.

Jim Perry, pitching masterfully and cleverly, shut them out 6-0 on eight hits. Tonight, the Sox have to face the second half of the act in Gaylord Perry, Jim's younger brother who will be shooting for his 11th straight victory.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Earl Anthony's $53,355 season winnings total has moved him past Larry Laub of San Francisco into the lead of the official money standings of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Expos Slaughter Reds

MONTREAL (AP)—Willy Davis hit his second and third home runs of the season, one of three runs and the other a grand slam, Tuesday night as the Montreal Expos overwhelmed the Cincinnati Reds 16-6.

The Expos had four home runs in the contest after recording only 17 the entire season. Mike Jorgenson and Ron Fairly had the other two.

"There was only one Jackie Robinson and he was fantastic," mused Davis, who came from Los Angeles in trade. "But I'm fantastic too."

"I imagine Cincinnati does that more to others than they get it done to them," said Expos Manager Gene Mauch, whose team took two straight from the Reds. "Now they know how it feels."

"I don't know how that man does it," said Mauch of Davis. "He hits them farthest when the pitch looks like it's going to hit him."

"The pitch," said Reds catcher

Johnny Bench, "looked like it might hit him. That guy must use a match stick for a bat. He gets it around so quickly."

"Willy Davis can't hardly play in this park without hitting home runs," said Mauch. "They have to come. They may not be towering smashes, but they are Jarry Park home runs and that's where he plays."

Mauch noted the steady wind that poured toward right field during the game. All Montreal home runs went to right field.

"The balls do carry out of here," said Montreal shortstop Tim Foli, adding he thought opposing pitchers should concentrate on their best pitches in Jarry Park, "not make adjustments."

"Roger Nelson couldn't get over his breaking stuff," said Foli, whose two-run single in the seventh tied the score at 5-5 and set up Davis' game-winning blow. "Either he was going to get it over and win or we were going to get a lot of runs."

Nelson, however, retired in the seventh after giving up only four hits. Loser Tom Hall only pitched to two batters before he went out and the Expos nailed Cincinnati relief hurlers for 12 runs.

Jorgenson homered in the first inning and Cincinnati came back to take the lead at 2-1 on Bench's two-run double in the third. The Reds scored once again in each of the next two innings on Expos errors and Dan Driessen's run-scoring hit in the seventh made it 5-1.

Fairly singled in the seventh and was forced. Jim Cox walked, Barry Foote singled home Bob Bailey. Then Hall walked Ron Woods and gave up a single to Jorgenson, scoring two.

Pedro Borbon then forced Foli, who batted in two on a double and Davis hit his first homer.

Montreal exploded for eight more runs in the eighth, including four on Davis' second blast giving him seven runs batted in for the night.

Can-Am Gets 2 SD Runs

Fourteen 3-and 4-year pacers will go postward in two divisions of the sixth leg of the Can-Am Series Thursday night at Scioto Downs for a purse of $20,000.

The huge entry forced the race into two divisions, each going for $10,000 and a beautiful silver trophy.

The second division is the tougher of the two, with Braidwood, the slick 4-year-old Majestic Hanover stallion, owned by driver Walt Paisley and Paul Roberto of Morton Grove, Ill. Lightly raced in 1973 with five wins and two seconds in seven starts, Braidwood paced in 1:59 3-5 at Washington Park. This year he has won 9 of 16 starts, and blazed around Maywood Park's half-mile oval in 1:58 2-5.

Rated a close second choice in the second division is Sudden Sam, owned by J. W. Sweeney of Belmont, Mass., and driven by Bill Faucher. This 4-year-old son of Race Time is the current point leader in the series, having raced in all five previous legs, earning 162 points. He won last Friday night over Saratoga Raceway's half mile in 1:59 4-5 for a new race record.

Joe O'Brien has a tough competitor in the second division in Meadow Micky, one of the sport's leading Little Brown Jug eligibles. Owned by John and H.P. He has won two races this year, and last week was second by a neck to Toro Hanover in the Battle of Brandywine in 1:59 2-5.

Marc Ferguson will drive Little Startrick for owner Lowell Prickett of

Gene Riegle has a promising Jug eligible and Can-Am starter in Right On Bret, the Bret Hanover showing a victory in 2:03 1-5 this year at Scioto.

Bob Cheney will pilot the brilliant Galion Pam for owner Carl Weithman of Galion. This daughter of Adios Senator, won 12 of 24 starts last year including a trip in 1:58 at Latonia. This year, she won a leg of the Can-Am at Blue Bonnets in Canada in 2:01 2-5. Bob Davenport has Mickey Bloom to complete the second division.

Amish Ponder Road Safety Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Horse-drawn and other slowmoving vehicles creating nighttime traffic hazards on Ohio's highways soon may have to be equipped with lights which can be seen for 1,000 feet.

That's 166 yards farther than under present law.

A bill enacted by the 110th General Assembly and now awaiting action by Gov. John J. Gilligan would have the biggest effect on the Ohio Amish community.

The estimated 250-300 Amishmen who live in the Holmes County area, because of their Mennonite religious beliefs, are in a bind, said Rep. John E.

Johnson, D-68 Orrville.

Johnson said the Amish, who adhere to their forefathers' beliefs and reject modern conveniences such as automobiles, advised him they are considering ignoring the law.

"I have urged them to comply," said Johnson. "I hope that they will."

Their horse-drawn buggies are a frequent sight along the sometimes narrow and crooked highways in Holmes, Medina, Ashland and adjacent counties in northeast Ohio's rolling hills.

Spurred by accidents that involved the old-fashioned vehicles in their respective districts, Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, and Sen.

Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, helped get the bill passed.

"We've had two serious accidents involving slow-moving vehicles in Ashland County within the past year," said Van Meter. "One person was killed and two others seriously maimed for life."

"When driving along some of those roads you're right on top of them before you see them."

Currently the law requires slow-moving vehicles to display "one light or lighted lantern" that can be seen from the front a distance of 500 feet, and a red light or lantern on the rear visible from the same distance.

Present law also requires slow-moving vehicles — those that travel at 25 miles per hour or less — to display a triangular, reflecting Slow Moving Vehicle (SMV) sign on the rear, visible from 500 feet. The new law would continue the requirement for the SMV emblem.

The new proposed law states that a buggy or other slowmoving vehicle would have to be equipped on the front with at least one white light visible from 1,000 feet.

Two lamps would be required on the rear with two red lights visible at 1,000 feet, or one red light visible at that distance along with two reflectors that can be seen from 600 feet.

Owners affected by the legislation would have until Jan. 1, 1975, to comply with the new law.

The lamps or reflectors required must meet standards specified by the director of highway safety. The director would specify which types of lights meet visibility requirements, sponsors said.

IRS Faces Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service faces questioning by a Senate panel on charges that it works with a quota system that can victimize taxpayers and reward agents for harshness.

IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander was scheduled to appear today before an appropriations subcommittee holding hearings on IRS operations.

Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., chairman of the panel, said among topics to be discussed with IRS are a taxpayer bill of rights, jeopardy assessments, quota production pressure and proposals to audit the tax collecting agency.

Today's session is a continuation of hearings that started in April when witnesses accused IRS of violating peoples' rights, defying federal law and operating with a system that stresses numbers of cases closed instead of the manner in which they were handled.

One earlier witness, Vincent L. Connery, president of the National Treasury Employees Union, said initiatives to meet taxpayer needs and ease discontent have been announced by IRS but "no matter how highly they may trumpet these initiatives, they are no more than cosmetic reforms."

Another witness during the April hearings, Joseph N. Ingolia, a U.S. tax court commissioner, said IRS fails to tell taxpayers their rights at the beginning of a tax dispute and often misinforms when it does.

Pickaway Shrine Host Candidates

Shrine candidates Rubert L. Ballentine, Donald Eugene Hamilton, Shirley Daniel Hamner, and Carl Hemming were honored guests of the local Shrine Club at a pre-ceremonial dinner held in the Elk's Dining Room Friday evening. They went to Aladdin Temple on Saturday for initiation in the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Noble Bill Dountz, chairman of the Hot Sands Committee, assisted by committee members Nobles Hargus Conley and David Goldschmidt, presented the program. Noble Hargus Conley entertained the group with imitations.

Nobles Jeff Cline, president, and Bob Brush, immediate past president, of South-east Shrine Club, Columbus, were in attendance.

President Robert G. Smith, M.D., presided over the meeting.

It was hard to tell which was shining brighter Sunday at the bike races—the sun or the faces of the eager young contestants as they awaited the call of their name in competition. An occasional cool breeze provided a bit of relief for those who gathered to cheer their favorite contestant to the finish line. Though the crowd was quite small it more than made up for its size in the enthusiasm displayed.

Sponsored by the local American Legion Post 618 the annual races are open to all children of the Westfall school district.

Participants and winners were: tricycles girls—ages 3 and 4 - no entries; boys—ages 3 and 4 - Shawn Newton; bicycles girls, ages 5 and 6—Tonda Bivens, first, Lisa Thomas, second, Kathy McCafferty, third; boys—ages 5 and 6 - Charlie Duvall, first, Dusty Puffinbarger, second, Todd Young, third; girls, 7 and 8—Rita Russell, first, Yvette Carter, second, Melissa Mowery, third, Amy Easterday, Gretchen Jordan, Sheryl Horch, Kris Grady and Janie Whitten; boys, 7 and 8—Michael Tarbill, first, R.V. Hamman, second, Jeff Wardell, third, Richard Speakman; girls, 9 and 10—Veronica Carter, first, Kana Keller, second, Shara Lee Valentine, third, Connie Helsel; boys, 9 and 10—Keith Garrison, first, Ken Horch, second, Todd See, third, Jeff Kaiser, Doug Reeser and Guy Bivens;

Girls, 11 and 12—Lisa Puffinbarger, first, Jerri Kaiser, second; boys, 11 and 12—Pete Jordan, first, Joe Valone, second, Dave Gray, third; girls, 13 and 14—Kelly Betts, first, Lisa Jordan, second, Tina Russell, third, Bonnie Thomas; boys 13 and 14 Pete Russell, first, Matt Werner, second; ladies 15 to 71 - Charmie Betts, first; Pam Garrison, second, Janis Jordan, third; men 15 to 71—Doug Garrison first, Bob Garrison, second (this was a father-son match with dear old dad giving his all for second place.)

Summer dismissal of school is always a sure sign of party time for the junior high set and so it was a week or so ago when Shirley Thompson, Cathy Evans and Diane Noble threw a bash at the Thompson barn. Kids were everywhere having a real fun time celebrating their three-month liberation from the book grind.

Saturday was birthday party time for young Todd Young, son of Paul and Janet. Helping him enjoy his new five-year-old status were Billy Buskirk, Dusty Puffinbarger, Amy Easterday, Sheryl Cox, sister Tricia Young, grandparents Harry and Cora Young and Aunt Anna Louise Cox. Traditional birthday cake and all the trimmings provided the refreshments.

Russ and Leona Mason of Logan were Sunday evening guests of Marvie baby and Dolly Thompson. Russ and Marvie were service buddies during the Korean Conflict and have maintained a close friendship throughout the ensuing years.

A weekend guest at the Thompson household was Randy Howell of Flushing down near Wheeling, W. Va. Randy is a good friend of Alejandro Garces having become acquainted with him while Alejandro was attending Union Local High as an exchange student before coming to our school and making his home with the Thompsons. Randy visited with the Easterdays, too.

Taking advantage of the ideal picnic weather Sunday was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Riley (Rocky) Mahorney who got together to finish off the fish mom still had from a Canadian fishing trip some months ago. Savoring every bite were Carl and Lucille Wheeler and family, Floyd and Lily Mae Copley and family all from the Frankfort area, Bill and Evelyn Mahorney and family of New Holland, John and Norma Drummond and Linda of our town.

The Mahorneys have a beautifully shaded yard that lends itself to family and outdoor eating. They also always have one of the outstanding gardens of anyone in town. The rows are straighter than straight and never a weed can be seen. Another topnotch

Dino Martin Faces Gun Sentencing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dino Martin, son of entertainer Dean Martin, is scheduled to be sentenced July 1 after entering a surprise guilty plea to violating federal firearms laws.

As his trial in U.S. District Court was about to begin Tuesday, Martin, 22, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of seven machine guns and a 14-foot-long antitank gun, a crime which carries a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. He previously had pleaded innocent, telling reporters he collected the guns as a hobby.

State Land Farming Boost Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Mental Health Director Kenneth Gaver is expected to present to Gov. John Gilligan a plan for expanding farming operations on state lands, a spokesman in the governor's office says.

The proposal appears to reverse the position taken by the administration last year in backing sales of state farm lands, including those at the Mansfield Reformatory.

But the spokesman said the plans were being prepared at Gaver's initiative and the governor apparently had not been consulted yet.

Possible plans for "an intensified farming operation in future years" were revealed in two letters dealing with proposed production at the Osborn Farm in Erie County.

One, written by Gaver to Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, said the Department of Mental Health and Retardation was reviewing the status of both its own lands and those of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

A-C Board Member Resigns

The resignation of board member Merlin Wentworth was submitted to the remaining board members at Monday's meeting of the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education. Wentworth's resignation was followed with this comment: "It is with much regret that I am forced to resign from the A-C Board of Education. I have greatly enjoyed my association with the Amanda-Clearcreek community, especially with the Amanda-Clearcreek School System as a teacher and board member. It is only due to employment opportunities elsewhere that I am leaving. I wish to express my appreciation to the community, the school administration, and the board for their fine support."

The board advises that anyone interested in filling the position vacated by Wentworth may contact the administration of any of the board members, Robert Foster, Maynard Miller, Elwood Kim or president Enos Fausnaugh.

During the regularly monthly session of the board, eight teaching contracts were offered. The resignation from a teaching position was accepted from Juliann Thompson. One year's leave of absence was granted to David Bennett from his teaching position.

With the resignations and em-ployments to date, the district still has teaching positions as follows: general science, biology, with assistant foot-ball coaching position; vocational home economics teacher to serve as head of the Amanda-Clearcreek lunchroom program half time and teacher half time.

A resolution was passed to participate in the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation Project for development and implementation of a kindergarten assessment and staff development program.

The board accepted the resignation from Carl Valentine Sr. from his custodial position.

A maintenance service agreement was entered with Heimberger Office Machines for typewriters in the district.

Bids are to be requested at the regular July meeting for bread, milk, fire extinguishers, pest control service and canned goods. Tire bids for the 1974-75 school year were awarded Monday night to the Amon Tire Center.

Formal approval was granted for the band camp at Rio Grande College August 11-17.

Appalachian Area Projects Scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's 28 Appalachian counties will have about $30 million in federal, state and local money for projects in the 1974 fiscal year, the state Department of Economic and Community Development said.

The agency announced Tuesday approval by the Appalachian Regional Commission of Ohio's $12 million project package.

Federal, state and local agencies will provide another $18 million for the work, which includes spending on access roads, health care facilities, child development, mine reclamation, housing, vocational education, water and sewer projects and research, the agency said.

reviewed and the board passed a resolution to participate in the ESEA Title I and DPPF for the fiscal year 1975.

Authorization was given for Donald Myers to attend the transportation workshop at Ohio University July 8-12 and for Superintendent W. A. Smith to attend the BASA meeting at Kings Island June 20-21.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Widow Wants Widower

DEAR ABBY: I've been a widow for three years and have been longing for male companionship ever since. Oh, I have plenty of women friends, but it's not the same.

I read in the obituaries recently that a woman I knew from church had died and was survived by her husband. I remembered him as a tall, nice-looking refined gentleman, so I wrote him a letter offering him my condolences, and I invited him to supper at my home. (I hadn't seen him in about 10 years.)

He came, bringing flowers, and we had a wonderful time just the two of us.

As he was leaving he said, "I am lonely too. How about my moving in with you?" (I am 63 and he is 74.)

I asked: "Is this a proposal?"

He said: "Lord no! We're too old for that!"

Abby, I have five children and 24 grandchildren who are always popping in on me, and I can't have a man living with me. On the other hand, I would enjoy having steady company and I'm afraid that if I pass him up some other widow will grab him.

If I were to "rent" him a room and call him a "boarder," do you think people would talk?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: People prob ably talk plenty. Whether you care what they say or not is strictly your business. At 63, I think you've earned the right to do as you please.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 30 years. We have two grown children living away from home. He's a hard-working man and a good husband in many ways, but he is getting on my nerves.

He works in a machine shop days, and his clothes get very dirty, so as soon as he gets home he takes off his work clothes and sits around in his underwear. He wears regular undershorts and undershirts that are low cut under the arms. I've pleaded, demanded and berated him, but nothing helps.

I always keep myself looking nice around the house, but he doesn't care what he looks like. I have laid out fresh trousers and shirts for him, and even a nice robe, but he never touches them. We don't go out much, and the few times people have dropped in he stays in his old underwear. I am so tired of seeing him like that I could scream. Any suggestions?

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Buy him some good-looking Bermuda shorts and some colorful T-shirts and lay them out instead of him. If that doesn't work, go ahead and scream. It won't improve the scenery, but you'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: A year and a half ago I met Jim. I was five months pregnant at the time. I told him about it, but he said he loved kids and he wanted to marry me and he would never hold against me the fact that I had had another man's child. He wouldn't even consider my suggestion that maybe I should give up my baby as soon as it was born.

I was so happy I thought I had died and gone to heaven. All of a sudden, Jim changed his mind. Now he wants me to give my baby away. He says he can't love another man's child. Abby, I have grown to love my son, and I can't give him up now.

I love Jim, too, and don't know what I would do without him. Is he being unfair, or am I wrong to expect him to accept another man's child?

Please help me. I am all mixed up. I am 20 and Jim is 25.

ALONE

DEAR ALONE: Jim is unfair. He agreed to accept your child. If he now finds that he cannot, you must decide whether you will have fewer regrets giving up Jim or giving up your son. No one can make that choice for you. God bless.

Eye Gold Ownership By Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said today he hopes it will be possible for Americans to own gold before the end of this year.

Simon told a House Banking and Currency subcommittee that he favors allowing Americans to own gold, which now is prohibited.

President Nixon has authority from Congress to remove the ban at any time and Simon said he hopes this will be possible "before the end of the year unless there are damaging developments."

Simon appeared before the House subcommittee, which is considering U.S. contributions to the International Development Association. The association makes interest-free development loans to the world's poorest countries.

The Senate already has approved an appropriation, but with a stipulation that Americans should be free to own gold effective Sept. 1.

The House subcommittee, which previously turned down the IDA bill, also is considering setting a gold owning date as a condition for passage of the bill, say sources.

Ohio Bald Eagle Outlook Gloomy

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

There is a glimmer of optimism in the fledging of two bald eagles in Ohio this spring, but long-term prospects for the national bird in this state are gloomy.

The sliver of hope lies in the fact that the nesting success, although limited, may represent a holding action against recent declining trends in eagle reproduction.

The best eagle hatch within the past decade occurred in 1965 when five young survived from among 12 active nests statewide, reported Laurel Van Camp, long-time eagle watcher with the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

In 1968 only one pair nested successfully. Remarkably, they brought off three eaglets.

Hatches fell off steadily thereafter until last year. Two young survived to leave their nests in 1969 followed by one in 1970, none in 1971 and 1972, two in 1973 and two this year.

The total of active nests has stabilized in the recent past at about six, all in the Lake Erie marsh area of northwestern Ohio.

But the population is precarious, Van Camp said.

The adults mate for life. They remain in the region most of the year and usually return to the same nests, or rebuilding nearby if the nest is blown down.

Six pairs of eagles nested this year. There could have been seven, but one bird was electrocuted on high tension lines early this spring. Sadly, that bird was one of a pair that hatched the only two eaglets surviving from one nest near Resthaven Wildlife Area in 1973.

Another eagle injured itself in April, but was nursed back to health by state wildlife officials. It rejoined its mate and nested late, but the pair was unsuccessful.

Van Camp is afraid Ohio eagles are not reproducing at a rate fast enough to replenish their own numbers. Adults nesting now are older birds. Whn they got they simply may not be replaced, he said.

The plight of Ohio's eagles is mirrored elsewhere in the lower 48 states.

As George Laycock of Cincinnati points out in his excellent new book, "Autumn of the Eagle," hard pesticides in the birds' diet of fish and small animals are blamed for foiling eagle reproduction in many states.

Van Camp doubts that there is enough DDT and other longlived chemicals used in the region to directly cause the decline of Lake Erie eagles, although pesticides undoubtedly are a factor.

Encroaching civilization and loss of habitat may be the two most significant adversaries threatening Ohio eagles today, he said.

"I don't see how we can possibly have any bald eagles here in another 10 years."

Mental Hospitals Are In Dire Need

NEW YORK (AP) —Critical lack of space and funds are the main problems for New York's psychiatric hospitals. According to Dr. Henry I. Schneer, president of the New York State Hospitals Medical Alumni Assn. and associate professor of psychiatry at Downstate Medical Center (State University of New York) in Brooklyn.

"Patients who need long-term care are currently transferred to state hospitals. But these hospitals are releasing patients after very short stays in an attempt to reduce their census and focus on outpatient treatment. Back at home, the patient finds the same circumstances and problems that originally precipitated his hospitalization. When his disturbance again becomes severe, he is returned to the municipal hospital. He is treated and discharged, or transferred to a state hospital—and again released after a short time, only to be rehospitalized at a later date as he continues through this revolving-door system."

Court Furnishings Prove Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court is spending more than $639,000 to furnish its new offices in the State Office Tower, while other state agencies are being told to make maximum use of old furniture, state officials confirmed today.

The cost includes $379,917 for teak and metal shelving in the new law library, $77,154 for law library furniture, $35,579 to furnish public reception areas and $39,297 to furnish the justices' office suites.

"People are fussing about, and although I haven't made an issue of it, I must say the cost surprises and bothers me somewhat," said Joseph Sommer, director of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Campus Notes

Receiving a bachelor of arts degree in religion at Wayland Baptist College recently was Larry R. Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Parks, Route 4. He minored in history.

LARRY R. PARKS

Graduating from Oklahoma State Technical College as a technical draftsman and designer was Patrick Foreman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Foreman, Route 2, Ashville. Foreman and his wife, the former Cindy Good, and son will make their home in Charlotte, N. C.

Mrs. Carolyn Farynowski Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Farynowski, 702 N. Pickaway St., has received a bachelor of arts degree with honors in elementary education from Pennsylvania State University.

She was a member of Gamma Chi Social sorority, the synchronized swimming team and the student court. She was also named a distinguished scholar on the Dean's List. Mrs. Johnson is a 1970 graduate of Warren Area High School. She and her husband Peter reside in Laurel, Md.

Receiving an AB degree in Pre-med from Transylvania University in Lexington, Ky., on June 2 was Roger Bell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew M. Bell, 3 Windsor Court. Bell is a graduate of Westfield High School in Westfield, N.J.

Michael Scott Yates, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Yates, 126 E. Mound St., was among the 512 persons receiving bachelor's degrees at Denison University's 133rd commencement on June 1.

Yates received the bachelor of arts degree in economics. He has been a member of the Dean's List and has served as corresponding secretary and intrafraternity council representative for Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Bob Thomas was one of the four seniors participating in the baccalaureate services at Otterbein College Sunday. He gave a four-minute talk on the religious word for our day and time.

The theme for the service was "There is Something I've Been Meaning to Tell You." The Otterbein Concert Choir and the Brass Ensemble provided music and the seniors went without robes.

Receiving a Ph.D. degree in Saturday commencement services at Bowling Green State University was Charles Clinton Waple, 915 S. Clinton St.

The ceremonies began at 10 a.m. with U.S. Attorney General William Saxbe presenting the commencement address.

Four Circleville area students received degrees from Miami University at its 135th annual commencement on Sunday.

Mark Edward Frericks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Frericks, 573 Willow Lane, received a bachelor of science degree in education.

Receiving bachelor of fine arts and bachelor of arts degrees respectively were Deborah Lynn and Douglas Bryan Moore, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Moore, 319 Wood Lane.

Vicki Lynn Ralston, 564 N. Pickaway St., was the recipient of a bachelor of science in education degree. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Ralston.

Thomas A. Gifford, Route 1, New Holland, and Stephen Jay Seaburn, Route 1, Williamsport, both received bachelor of science degrees during the commencement ceremonies. Gifford's degree was in education and Seaburn's in environmental design.

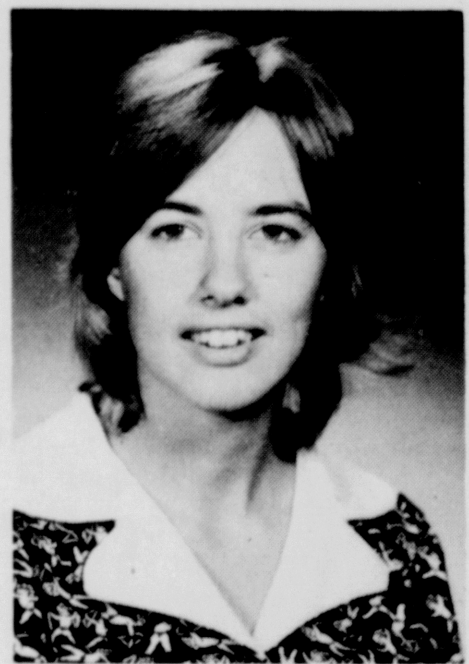

Peggy Sue Hamman, Box 145, Clarksburg, was the recipient of a bachelor of science in education degree.

Danny Dahl, formerly of Circleville, was graduated on May 26 from Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky., with a master of divinity degree. He plans to enter the pastoral ministry.

A May class of 3,522 students completed their work and received degrees in Purdue University's 122nd commencement on May 10.

Graduating with a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering was David Mark Haradon, 583 Willow Lane.

Miss Helle Rahe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Villem Rahe, 343 Meadow Lane, has been awarded a bachelor of science degree in physical therapy, Cum Laude, at the 79th annual Ithaca College Commencement exercises held May 18.

HELLE RAHE

Ithaca College in Ithaca, N.Y., bestowed 840 bachelors and 70 masters degrees during the ceremonies.

Miss Rahe was a member of the President's Hosts Committee and the Student Activities Board. She is also a member of the American Physical Therapy Association.

Wade Foster Camp has been accepted for admission to Brevard College, Brevard, N. C., in the fall of 1974. Camp graduated from Circleville High School this year and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Camp, 535 Green Acre Court.

Brevard College is owned and operated by the Western North Carolina Conference of The United Methodist Church.

Named to the Dean's List at Capital University during the second semester was Karen Lynne Maxson. Students must obtain a 3.75 grade point average on a 4.0 scale to be named to the Dean's List.

Miss Maxson just completed her junior year and is majoring in elementary education at Capital.

David Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Stevens, Laurelville, was among the seniors graduating from Ohio University Saturday. Stevens majored in chemical engineering and has accepted a position with the E. I. duPont and Belworks plant in West Virginia.

Oliver Reed Escapes Blaze

SOUTHSEA, England (AP) — Oliver Reed, star of the film version of the rock musical "Tommy," escaped unhurt with some 200 other persons when fire broke out in the ballroom of a seaside pier where filming was taking place.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than three hours.

Authorities said the fire apparently began when plastic curtains were set ablaze by smoke canisters being used in the filming.

Strike Doesn't Faze Small City

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Tough-minded residents of the Saylor Park area, fresh from the battle of the April 3 tornado, which included all manner of bureaucrats and insurance adjusters, vow they won't let a little thing like a teamsters strike throw them.

"One way or another," said George Nose, "we're going to rebuild our homes for our families whether we do it like gentlemen or like animals."

Saylor Park, which, on a city map, looks like a tail on the city of Cincinnati, is populated by rugged, individualistic Germans who are used to handling their own problems.

The city's annexation of the area a half century ago gave Cincinnati control of the Ohio riverfront nearly to the Indiana line.

Until two years ago, there was only one police patrol car assigned from the downtown area to the 15-mile outreach of Saylor Park.

"We got used to handling our own problems," recalled one resident. "It took the policeman two hours to cover the beat. As a result, we watched our own neighborhood and over the years we turned over a lot of would-be burglars to the police."

On April 3 one, and possible two tornadoes, crossed the Ohio River from Boone County, Ky. and punched a swath through the pleasant, tree-lined suburb.

An estimated 200 houses disappeared, mainly in an area called "the subdivision." The area has small houses, many without basements, built since World War II. There was not a single death although there were a number of injuries.

It took a while for the Saylor Parkers, not accustomed to a lot of strangers to get used to the insurance adjusters, and federal, state and local officials, but not too long.

"We learned right away," recalled Nose, "that if you go in like Mr. Milktoast with your hat in your hand, they are going to push you all over the place."

"What you have to do is threaten to beat somebody up, or go and see somebody's boss about getting him fired. When you act like you're going to take the place apart, they sit down and start doing something. That's just the way it is. It isn't their fault, they're just used to doing things that way, they didn't create the system."

Now, the debris is pretty well cleaned away and new houses are going up on the sites of the old ones.

But, on June 1, some 15 building trades unions in the Cincinnati area struck for higher wages. These included the 300-member concrete drivers with Teamsters Union Local 100.

Half a dozen builders, backed by residents, went to the union with a petition asking that concrete deliveries be allowed to pour their foundations. The Teamsters refused.

Strike Doesn't Faze Small City

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Tough-minded residents of the Saylor Park area, fresh from the battle of the April 3 tornado, which included all manner of bureaucrats and insurance adjusters, vow they won't let a little thing like a teamsters strike throw them.

"One way or another," said George Nose, "we're going to rebuild our homes for our families whether we do it like gentlemen or like animals." Saylor Park, which, on a city map, looks like a tail on the city of Cincinnati, is populated by rugged, individualistic Germans who are used to handling their own problems.

The city's annexation of the area a half century ago gave Cincinnati control of the Ohio riverfront nearly to the Indiana line.

Until two years ago, there was only one police patrol car assigned from the downtown area to the 15-mile outreach of Saylor Park.

"We got used to handling our own problems," recalled one resident. "It took the policeman two hours to cover the beat. As a result, we watched our own neighborhood and over the years we turned over a lot of would-be burglars to the police."

On April 3 one, and possible two tornadoes, crossed the Ohio River from Boone County, Ky. and punched a swath through the pleasant, tree-lined suburb.

An estimated 200 houses disappeared, mainly in an area called "the subdivision." The area has small houses, many without basements, built since World War II. There was not a single death although there were a number of injuries.

It took a while for the Saylor Parkers, not accustomed to a lot of strangers to get used to the insurance adjusters, and federal, state and local officials, but not too long.

"We learned right away," recalled Nose, "that if you go in like Mr. Milktoast with your hat in your hand, they are going to push you all over the place."

"What you have to do is threaten to beat somebody up, or go and see somebody's boss about getting him fired. When you act like you're going to take the place apart, they sit down and start doing something. That's just the way it is. It isn't their fault, they're just used to doing things that way, they didn't create the system."

Now, the debris is pretty well cleaned away and new houses are going up on the sites of the old ones. But, on June 1, some 15 building trades unions in the Cincinnati area struck for higher wages. These included the 300-member concrete drivers with Teamsters Union Local 100.

Half a dozen builders, backed by residents, went to the union with a petition asking that concrete deliveries be allowed to pour their foundations. The Teamsters refused.

Ohio Motorist Dies

Then, on Monday, a small independent concrete firm in nearby Harrison, Ohio, agreed to supply the material, but residents were asked to watch.

KIRKERSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Elliot Wilson, 89, of Blacklick in Franklin County, was killed Tuesday in a two-car collision on U.S. 40 near Kirkersville, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

SERTOMA GUEST—Mrs. Gladys Robinson (right), local retired nurse, spoke at the Circleville Sertoma Club Tuesday, about the Franciscan Community Meals Program that is operating in Circleville. Mrs. Robinson stated that the program is for people who for one reason or another cannot prepare a proper meal for themselves. Wayne Hatfield (left), was program chairman.

Zane Trace Awards Given In Annual Assembly

The Zane Trace Junior High School Awards' Assembly was held June 10 in the gym. Gary Walsh, Principal, and the classroom teachers presented awards.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to Andy Jackson, Jerry Kight, Sharon Havens, Brian Adams, Eddie Shreve, Barbara Neff, Randy Fink, Maria Barnhart, Mike Burnheimer, and Debbie Tillis.

Students who attained honor roll standing throughout the school year were: Theresa McWhorter, Dianne Pearson, Julie Wright, Pam Goldsberry, Brenda Francis, Sara Edwards, Vicki Cooley, Todd Jones, Penny Harker, and Tracy Gahm, and Deanna Steele.

Certificates of achievement were presented to the outstanding eighth grade student in each subject. Stephen Hupp was named as the outstanding American history student; Julie Wright in English; Greg Ireton in boys' physical education, girls physical education award went to Paula Pittenger, the industrial arts award was won by David Sommers; Mary Hettinger was named as the outstanding home economics student, Deanna Steele in science, Paula Pittenger in music, and Casey Hinton won the math award.

Spelling bee awards were won by seventh grader, Robin Stone and eighth grader, Tom Shoemaker.

Student service awards were presented to Debbie Tillis, Steve Sheets, and Kelly Welch.

Librarian assistant awards went to: Cindy Arledge, Tina Burrell, Eddie Brokaw, Lorna Pence, and Kelly Martin.

Student government awards were presented to Bob Seifert, Scott Haynes, Tracy Karshner, Tracy Gahm, Laura Opp, Janet Cryder, Pam Goldsberry, and Jan Jacobs.

The American Legion Award, presented annually to the outstanding eighth grade boy and girl, was won by Pam Goldsberry and Glenn (Casey) Hinton.

Those students who help the school secretary are appreciated very much at the Zane Trace Middle School. It is a pleasure to honor them with "Certificates of Student Service" for the school year 73-74. Many Thanks to Sandy Dumm, 601; Faith Swepston, 507; Scott Shaffer, 601; Shaun Stockman, 507; and Melissa Schadle, 504.

Perfect attendance to school for one year is an accomplishment of which to be very proud. It means that of all the many exciting events one may enjoy during the year, that learning is one of them. Middle School honors go to Dan Hupp, 601; Joe Stoneburner, 601; Jennifer Congrove, 601; Terri Newman, 601; Kathy Delong, 602; Malayna McCorkle, 602; Barry Williams, 606; Ellen Blankenship, 608; Sharon Uhrig, 608; Randy Tatman, 507; Tim Smith, 505; and David Land, 504.

Benefits To Include Increase

The second part of a two-step increase in monthly social security benefits will be included in checks delivered in July, according to Harry B. Bieber, social security district manager in Chillicothe. The overall increase will amount to 11 per cent for most people getting social security payments. A seven per cent increase was included in checks starting in April.

"The increase will enhance the financial security of about 30 million people who get social security benefits", Bieber said. "People getting social security checks don't have to do anything to get the higher payments. The increase will be added automatically."

Starting in July, average social security retirement payments will go from $161 to $181 a month. Average social security disability payments will go from $184 to $206 a month. Average survivors payments to a widowed mother with two children in her care will go from $418 to $435 a month.

For 1974 the amount of yearly earnings subject to social security deductions has been increased from the first $10,800 to the first $13,200, but there is no increase in the contribution rate. Employees and employers will continue to pay 5.8 per cent each on covered earnings, and the rate for self-employed people drops to 7.9 per cent.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Chillicothe social security office is at 606 Central Center in Chillicothe. The phone number is 775-4950. The office is open to the public 8:45 a.m.-4:45 p.m., Monday thru Friday.

Base Plans Open House

Transport, fighter and tanker aircraft are all featured at the Youngstown Air Reserve Base Open House, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 22.

Planes will be displayed on the runway flight line. Visitors can browse from a C-141 four-engine jet cargo transport to two A-37 fighter-bombers.

The transport is capable of hauling heavy cargo or over 150 paratroopers. It is also used as a medical evacuation plane.

Special attractions are A-37 low level diamond and fingertip formations.

In addition, a KC-97 refueling tanker, a RF-4C photo reconnaissance fighter, a Civil Air Patrol Cessna bird-dog, a Navy T-34 prop-driven trainer plane, Marine aviation and many more will be flown to the air base for visitors to view.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some changing situations. Be alert, ready to take quick action, and be guided by procedures which have proved successful in the past.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You will do well if you pursue your own interests and remain aloof from affairs which do not essentially concern you. This is no time to go off on tangents.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Fine influences stimulate your intellect and ingenuity. An excellent period in which to handle the competition. You can win, hands down.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Don't look askance at those who disagree with you or express seemingly far-fetched ideas. On consideration, you may find they contain gems of wisdom.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): This day calls for teamwork and compromise. Utilize opportunities wisely; keep working toward your highest objective.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Someone in a position to help will be a willing listener, so outline your goals frankly. But be sure they are realistic.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Personal relationships at their best. In fact, a friend or close associate may be instrumental in helping you to solve a long-standing problem.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Meet competition — but in a subtle manner, advancement notable in economics, industry, sales, educational pursuits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Some situations highly mystifying. Try to get some background information that will help you to clarify matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Your personal interests should fare well now, and you may receive some unexpected aid from an influential person. Travel and romance also favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your ambitions can be given full rein now. Map route for next week along sound lines. You are in a position to make fine long-range plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Follow your instincts. Intuition should be at a peak and could disclose heartening new vistas which will open to you shortly.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually inclined, articulate in speech, often brilliant in tactics and organization. You have a lively imagination and an intense love of life and all living creatures. Outstanding, also, are your integrity, generosity and versatility — the latter fitting you for any number of highly interesting vocations. As a reporter, editor or travel writer, you could be a shining success, and you could excel in any branch of the theater — as actor, director, playwright or producer. You have fine creative ability and a love of color — especially in dress. Your love of colorful uniforms may even lead you into the military, though you abhor war. You are a poet and musician — may follow either avocationally. Birthdate of: U.S. Gen. Winfield Scott; William Butler Yeats, Irish author.

Indians

Protest Forfeit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—American League President Lee MacPhail was to receive two Cleveland Indians officials in New York today with their plea for reversal of a forfeiture of a riot-marred baseball game June 4 against the Texas Rangers, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said. MacPhail told the newspaper the Indians had drafted a letter containing specifics of their complaint but later asked to present their case in person. He said he would meet with Indians Vice President Ted Bonda and General Manager Phil Seghi.

Cincinnati Signs 17 Draft Players

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have now signed 17 of 40 players selected last week in the free agent draft. Signed Tuesday were right-hand pitcher Charles Kenneaux, El Cajun, Calif.; infielder Dean Grauman, Granite City, Okla.; and Catcher John Fuller, Gainesville, Fla. They were picked 12th, 23rd and 26th respectively in the draft, the Reds said.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—When and if the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigation finally goes into public session, Michael Townson hopes to help Britain and Europe get a clear picture of it all. A British Broadcasting Corp. official, he's responsible for coordinating the direct-via-satellite TV reports of English and European newsmen assigned to cover the committee's public hearings. And he'll run their satellite pool from battle stations at WTTC in Washington, getting the sound and TV view of the hearings from a coverage pool run by America's commercial networks and public TV.

"We have quite an interesting operation at WTTC," understated Townson, who had the same job last summer during the televised Senate Watergate hearings. "The English and European broadcasters who want to come in and we edit, under my control, a daily package of the hearings to which each adds his own commentary. So it's quite a tower of Babel down at WTTC, reporting the presidential problems." Townson, executive editor of the BBC's current affairs unit, said the tower this summer will broadcast for newsmen sent by the BBC and ITN, a news firm serving England's commercial networks, and RTE, the Republic of Ireland's television network. "It'll also work for reporters from Dutch and Scandinavian networks, he said, as well as for newsmen from French, Italian and German TV.

He said the pattern of satellite reports would be basically the same as during the Watergate hearings, when "every day there was testimony we'd send over a daily package running 15 to 30 minutes." The reporters had the option of taping their separate opening and closing comments on camera, adding off-camera narration, or doing both to go with edited highlights of the day's testimony. Then the whole thing was transmitted across the Atlantic, where editors from participating networks culled their man's report and weaved it into the Watergate excerpts for their own news shows.

Music To Hurry By
TORONTO (AP)—Veteran band leader Benny Louis wants to see piped music installed in the Toronto subway system and the Toronto Transit Commission is interested. Louis, who has been asked by the TTC to submit a report, says the speakers could be arranged in such a way that travelers who didn't want to listen to the music or news reports could easily move out of earshot. He said the system would cost $100,000 to install and $60,000 a year to operate.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—When he said the pattern of satellite reports would be basically the same as during investigation finally goes into the Watergate hearings, public session, Michael Townson hopes to help a Britain and Europe get a clear picture of it all.

A British Broadcasting Corp. official, he's responsible for coordinating the direct-via-satellite TV reports of English and European newsmen assigned to cover the committee's public hearings.

And he'll run their satellite pool from battle stations at WTTG in Washington, getting the sound and TV view of the hearings from a coverage pool run by America's commercial networks and public TV.

"We have quite an interesting operation at WTTG," understated Townson, who had the same job last summer during the televised Senate Watergate hearings. "The English and European broadcasters who want to come in and we edit, under my control, a daily package of the hearings to which each adds his own commentary."

"So it's quite a tower of Babel down at WTTG, reporting the presidential problems."

Townson, executive editor of the BBC's current affairs unit, said the tower this summer will broadcast for newsmen sent by the BBC and ITN, a news firm serving England's commercial networks, and RTE, the Republic of Ireland's television network.

"It'll also work for reporters from Dutch and Scandinavian networks, he said, as well as for newsmen from French, Italian and German TV.

He said the pattern of satellite reports would be basically the same as during investigation finally goes into the Watergate hearings, public session, Michael Townson hopes to help a Britain and Europe get a clear picture of it all.

The reporters had the option of taping their separate opening and closing comments on camera, adding off-camera narration, or doing both to go with edited highlights of the day's testimony.

Then the whole thing was transmitted across the Atlantic, where editors from participating networks culled their man's report and weaved it into the Watergate excerpts for their own news shows.

Music

To Hurry By

TORONTO (AP)—Veteran band leader Benny Louis wants to see piped music installed in the Toronto subway system and the Toronto Transit Commission is interested. Louis, who has been asked by the TTC to submit a report, says the speakers could be arranged in such a way that travelers who didn't want to listen to the music or news reports could easily move out of earshot. He said the system would cost $100,000 to install and $60,000 a year to operate.
